Travel Directions
to Yale University School of Art Administrative Offices
Holcombe T. Green, Jr. Hall, 1156 Chapel Street

By Air
Tweed–New Haven Airport is the closest airport and is approximately four miles from the Yale campus. It is serviced by USAirways (800.428.4322). Local taxi service, Metro Cab (203.777.7777), is available at the airport. Connecticut Limousine Service (800.472.5466) to New Haven services Kennedy International Airport (New York), La Guardia Airport (New York), Newark International Airport (Newark, New Jersey), and Bradley International Airport (Windsor Locks, Connecticut, near Hartford).

By Train
There is hourly Metro-North (800.638.7646) service to New Haven from Grand Central Station in New York every day of the week. Amtrak (800.872.7245) service is scheduled daily from Boston, Washington, D.C., or New York (Penn Station). From the New Haven train station take a taxi to 1156 Chapel Street.

By Car
Interstate 95 (from New York or Boston)
Take Downtown New Haven Exit 47 (Route 34). Proceed to Exit 3 (North Frontage Road). At the first traffic light turn right onto York Street. Proceed three blocks to Chapel Street. Turn left onto Chapel Street. The School of Art building is on the left on Chapel, midway between York and Park streets. Metered parking is available on local streets. City parking garages are also available on York Street.

Interstate 91 (from points north or west)
Take Downtown New Haven Exit 1 (Route 34). Continue as above.

History of the School

The study of the visual arts at Yale had its beginning with the opening, in 1832, of the Trumbull Gallery, one of the earliest art museums in the Anglo-Saxon world and the first (and long the only one) connected with a college in this country. It was founded by patriot-artist Colonel John Trumbull, one-time aide-de-camp to General Washington, with the help of Professor Benjamin Silliman, the celebrated scientist. A singularly successful art exhibition held in 1858 under the direction of the College Librarian, Daniel Coit Gilman, led to the establishment of an art school in 1864, through the generosity of Augustus Russell Street. This new educational program was placed in the hands of an art council, one of whose members was the painter-inventor Samuel F. B. Morse, a graduate of Yale College. When the School opened in 1869, it was the first connected with an institution of higher learning in the country, and classes in drawing, painting, sculpture, and art history were inaugurated. The art collections in the old Trumbull Gallery were moved into a building endowed by Augustus Street and so named Street Hall, and were greatly augmented by the acquisition of the Jarves Collection of early Italian paintings in 1871.

Architectural instruction was begun in 1908 and was established as a department in 1916 with Everett Victor Meeks at its head. Drama, under the direction of George Pierce Baker and with its own separate building, was added in 1925 and continued to function as a department of the School until it became an independent school in 1955. In 1928 a new art gallery was opened, built by Egerton Swartwout and funded through the generosity of Edward S. Harkness. It was connected to Street Hall by a bridge above High Street, and Street Hall was used for instruction in art. The program in architecture was moved to Weir Hall, designed by George Douglas Miller. A large addition to the Art Gallery, designed by Louis I. Kahn in collaboration with Douglas Orr, and funded by the family of James Alexander Campbell and other friends of the arts at Yale, was opened in 1953. Several floors were used by the School until the rapidly expanding Gallery collections required their use. In 1959 the School of Art and Architecture was made a fully graduate professional school. In 1963 the Art and Architecture Building, designed by Paul Rudolph, was opened, funded by many friends of the arts at Yale under the chairmanship of Ward Cheney. In 1969 the School was constituted as two faculties, each with its own dean; and in 1972 two separate schools were established by the President and Fellows, the School of Art and the School of Architecture, which until 2000 shared the Rudolph building for most of their activities. Sculpture was housed at 14 Mansfield Street in Hammond Hall (a large building formerly used for mechanical engineering), graphic design was located at 212 York Street (an old Yale fraternity building), and at 215 Park Street there were classrooms and additional graduate painting studios. Street Hall is assigned to the University Department of the History of Art. The arts at Yale—architecture, art, the Art Gallery, the Yale Center for British Art, the history of art, the School of Drama, and the Repertory Theatre—thus occupy a group of buildings stretching along and near Chapel Street for almost three blocks.
It had long been the University’s plan to extend the Arts Area schools farther up Chapel Street, and the first major new construction under this plan was the renovation of 1156 Chapel Street with the addition of an adjoining building at 353 Crown Street, designed by Deborah Berke. A generous gift by Yale College graduate Holcombe T. Green, Jr., for whom the building is named, and a major contribution by Marion Rand, in memory of her husband Paul Rand, professor of graphic design, made this new complex possible. The new art buildings house all the departments of the School of Art except sculpture, which remains at 14 Mansfield Street in Hammond Hall, as well as a new experimental theater for the School of Drama. Classes began in these buildings in September 2000.
Program

The School of Art offers professional instruction in four interrelated areas of study: graphic design, painting/printmaking, photography, and sculpture.

Artists and designers of unusual promise and strong motivation are provided an educational context in which they can explore the potential of their own talents in the midst of an intense critical dialogue. This dialogue is generated by their peers, by distinguished visitors, and by a faculty comprised of professional artists of acknowledged accomplishment.

The graduate student’s primary educational experience at Yale is centered on his or her own studio activity. Supporting this enterprise are the experience, knowledge, and skills gained from rigorous, structured courses such as drawing, filmmaking, the relativity of color, and the rich academic offerings found throughout Yale. Each student is routinely exposed to many aesthetic positions through encounters with faculty members and visitors. The School is devoted not only to the refinement of visual skills, but to the cultivation of the mind. Students must bring creative force and imagination to their own development, for these qualities cannot be taught— they can only be stimulated and appreciated.

The School of Art offers an undergraduate art major for students in Yale College (see the bulletin Yale College Programs of Study). In addition, the School’s courses are open to students in other graduate and professional schools of the University, and School of Art students may enroll in elective courses in the other graduate and professional schools as well as in the College with permission.

MASTER OF FINE ARTS DEGREE

The degree of Master of Fine Arts is the only degree offered by the School of Art. It is conferred by the University upon recommendation of the faculty after successful completion of all course work in residence and after a thesis presentation that has been approved by the faculty. It implies distinctive achievement on the part of students in studies in the professional area of their choice and demonstrated capacity for independent work. The minimum residence requirement is two years. All candidates’ work is reviewed by faculty at the end of each term. If the work is not considered satisfactory, the student may not be invited back to complete the program (see section on Review and Awards under Academic Regulations). All degree candidates are expected to be present at the Commencement exercises in May unless excused by the dean.

Course work for the Master of Fine Arts degree carries a minimum of sixty credits. The disposition of these credits varies according to the area of study and is agreed upon at the time of registration between the student and his or her faculty adviser.
Areas of Study

GRAPHIC DESIGN

The graphic design program focuses on the development of a thesis, a cumulative process through which each student builds a coherent, investigative, and experimental body of work. While every thesis project is unique, there are several common features: a focus on methodology, the application of that method to studio work, and the organization of relevant work in a thoughtfully argued document.

The thesis project is supported on several levels simultaneously: studio projects led by the faculty, independent advising, small thesis critique groups, external critics, writing tutors, lectures and presentations, and technical workshops.

Each student has a designated work space in the design studio and is granted access to computer labs, bookbinding studio, and silkscreen facility. In addition, students draw on the combined resources of the School of Art and the University, especially the extensive research and rare book collections of the Sterling and Beinecke libraries. Although the School provides digital lab facilities, it is expected that all graphic design students will require a personal computer for their work space.

The program admits up to ten students into the two-year and six students into the three-year program each year. Students are expected to have diverse and distinguished experience in visual studies and significant related professional experience. Students applying to the three-year program typically have relevant experience in a field of study outside design. After successful completion of the preliminary year, these students automatically continue on in the two-year M.F.A. program.

Credit Requirements

42 credits in area of concentration, including Art 949a, and 18 additional credits, including a minimum of 6 academic credits in courses outside the School of Art.

PAINTING/PRINTMAKING

Instruction in the program is rooted in the investigation of painting as a unique genre with its own complex syntax and history. Within this setting, the program encourages diversity of practice and interpretation, innovation, and experimentation on the part of students.

Approximately twenty-one students are admitted each year. At the core of instruction are individual and group critiques with faculty, visiting critics, and visiting artists. In addition, students participate in a variety of seminars taught by both faculty and critics. The study of printmaking is integrated into the painting program, and a student may concentrate in painting, printmaking, or a combination of the two.

Students work in individual 300-square-foot studios at 353 Crown Street adjacent to Green Hall. Students have access to a printmaking workshop in the Crown Street building, equipped with two lithographic and two etching presses and silkscreen facilities, as well as to the computer resources of the School and the Digital Media Center for the Arts.

Photography is a two-year program of study admitting nine students a year. Darkroom, studio, and computer facilities are provided. Students receive technical instruction in black-and-white and color photography as well as nonsilver processes and digital image production.

The program is committed to a broad definition of photography as a lens-based medium open to a variety of expressive means. Students work both individually and in groups with faculty and visiting artists. In addition, a critique panel composed of faculty and other artists or critics meets weekly, as well as for a final review each term, to discuss student work.

All students are required to successfully complete two academic courses in the University before they receive their degree. In addition, first-year students are required to take two terms of Photography 828 and, in the first term, Art 949a, Critical Practice.

Credit Requirements

42 credits in area of concentration, including Art 949a, and 18 additional credits, including a minimum of 6 academic credits in courses outside the School of Art.

SCULPTURE

The sculpture program offers students the opportunity to develop their work and to choose their own path, in concert with a broad array of different voices. The field of sculpture, at the moment, includes a collection of quite diverse methods; one set of tools is not privileged over another. Students work independently in individual studio spaces and have access to a woodworking shop, a metal shop, plaster facilities, a small computer lab, and some video equipment in the sculpture building in addition to further resources offered by the School of Art and the University at large. No metal-casting facilities are available.

The main focus of this program is to facilitate the development of conversation among students and faculty. Our aim is to articulate student work vis à vis its own trajectory and in relation to art history and the current moment. This conversation is formally structured to take place one-on-one between students and faculty, in small groups, and within a more public larger group involving the whole sculpture department.

First-year students are required to take Art 949a, Critical Practice, offered in the fall term. In addition, the sculpture program offers a critical issues seminar in the spring term. Students are encouraged to take courses in other departments within the School, and students are required to successfully complete two academic courses outside of the School of Art prior to graduation.

Approximately ten students are admitted each year.

Credit Requirements

42 credits in area of concentration, including Art 949a, and 18 additional credits, including a minimum of 6 academic credits in courses outside the School of Art.

LECTURE PROGRAM

Each department has its own visitors program in which professionals from outside the School are invited to lecture or take part in critiques. There is also an all-school lecture program in which ideas of general and cross-disciplinary importance are explored by visiting artists and members of the faculty.

EXHIBITIONS

The School of Art Gallery, located at 1156 Chapel Street, provides a year-round forum for the exhibition of work by students, faculty, and special guests in the four graduate departments of the School and the undergraduate program. The gallery is open to the public Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and on weekends for special exhibitions when the University is in session.
Course Descriptions

In the following listings, courses numbered 110 through 499 are studio electives offered to students from Yale College and the graduate and professional schools. Permission of the instructor is required for enrollment in all courses. Graduate students of the School of Art who wish to broaden their experience outside their area of concentration have priority in enrollment.

Courses numbered 500 and above are offered only to graduate students of the School of Art. In exceptional cases qualified Yale College students may enroll in a graduate course, with the permission of both the instructor and the director of undergraduate studies. Please refer to the section on Academic Regulations for further pertinent details. It should be noted that, as a matter of policy, all faculty members teach on both the graduate and undergraduate levels, although the degree and the nature of contact may vary.

Tutorials, which are special courses that cannot be obtained through regular class content, require a proposal written by the student and the faculty member concerned, defining both content and requirements. Proposals must be presented to the Academic Subcommittee for approval.

FILM/VIDEO/INTERDISCIPLINARY

Film/Video/Interdisciplinary is not a department in the School of Art; however, a number of students work primarily in video while enrolled in other areas. The School offers two graduate video courses each term. Anchored in the department of Sculpture, and taught by practicing video artists, these classes address fundamental technical issues as well as the far more challenging questions of the contemporary practice of video by artists and this medium’s relation to other forms of art practice. Classes in video are taught in a variety of locations throughout the School of Art and are attended by students from all areas of study.

Art 141a or b, The Language of Film Workshop. A workshop in which the problems and aesthetics of the medium are studied in practice as well as theory. In addition to exploring movement, image, montage, point of view, and narrative structure, students photograph and edit their own short videotapes. Materials fee: $150. Prerequisite for film studies majors: Film Studies 150. No prerequisite for art majors. Michael Roemer and Sandra Luckow.

Art 341a or b, Intermediate Film Workshop. In the first half of the term, students write, stage, and edit three dramatic scenes, each four to five minutes long. During the second half, they create somewhat longer projects. Focus on writing short dramatic scenes with a concrete understanding of the way they will be acted, directed, and photographed. Materials fee: $150. Prerequisite: Art 141a or b. Michael Roemer and Sandra Luckow.

Art 442, Fiction Film Workshop. A yearlong workshop designed primarily for Art and Film Studies majors making senior projects. Each student writes and directs a short fiction film. The first term focuses on the screenplay, production schedule, story boards, casting, budget, and locations. In the second term students rehearse, shoot, edit, and screen the film. Materials fee: $150. Enrollment limited to eight. Priority to majors in Art and in Film Studies. Prerequisites: Art 141a or b and Film 341a or b. Jonathan Andrews.

Art 902a or b, Video Performance Art Workshop. An interdisciplinary art workshop for students interested in extending their ideas and practice into video, performance, and/or other time-based media. Participants learn basic production skills and work individually and collaboratively. Class time is spent working on projects as well as on screenings, group critiques, and discussions of readings related to the field. Enrollment limited to sixteen graduate art students, four from each department. John Pilson.

Art 906b, Image Culture. This interdepartmental seminar examines photography and its relationship to contemporary art and culture at large. It considers how photography has emerged as a predominant force in contemporary art production by surveying photographic practice since 1975 and investigating how photographic representation has shaped and influenced painting, sculpture, video, and performance art. The course also explores contemporary photography’s complex relationship to popular culture and the increasingly common collapse of the boundaries between traditional photographic conventions and commercial forms such as advertising, fashion, journalism, and pornography. This seminar is based around weekly class discussions. Over the course of the term, a series of related issues and concerns are addressed in conjunction with invited guests whose work is relevant to the subject under discussion. In order to reflect a variety of viewpoints and disciplines, guest lecturers are invited from a broad range of contemporary art practice. Guests include filmmakers, musicians, writers, and commercial artists as well as artists, curators, and critics. Enrollment limited. Gregory Crewdson.

Art 949a, Critical Practice. Required for all incoming graduate students in the School of Art. Each year eight to twelve six-week-long seminar courses are offered. Incoming graduate students are required to take two of these seminars in their first year and will receive three credits for their satisfactory completion. The courses will vary widely in subject matter but not be limited to distinct areas of study. Ranging from technical introductions to theoretical and critical studies, these courses will be filled as far as possible according to student preferences, but with a goal that each section contains a mix of students from all areas of study in the School. Faculty.

GRAPHIC DESIGN

Art 132a or b, Introductory Graphic Design. A studio introduction to visual communication with an emphasis on principles of the visual organization of design elements. Topics include shape, color, and communication; visual hierarchy; word/image relationships and integration; typography; symbol design; and persuasion. Development of a verbal and visual vocabulary to describe, generate, and evaluate basic graphic design objects from a conceptual, visual, and technological point of view. Materials fee: $150. Pamela Hovland and Henk van Assen.
Art 133b, Introductory Graphic Design Studio. A continuation of the studio introduction course which furthers the principles of visual communication including sequencing, structure, typography, symbol design, and color. Materials fee: $150. Prerequisite: Art 132a or b or equivalent. Glen Cummings.

Art 264a, Typography I. An intermediate course in graphic design concentrating on the fundamentals of typography, and particularly on how typographic form and visual arrangement create and support content. The course work is based on designing and making books and employs handwork and computer technology. Typographic history and theory are discussed in relation to course projects. Materials fee: $150. Prerequisite: Art 132a or b or 133b. John Gambell.

Art 265b, Typography II. Continued studies in typography incorporating more advanced and complex problems. Emphasis is placed on organization, hierarchy, and problem solving in both print and motion graphics. Relevant issues of design history and theory are discussed in conjunction with studio assignments. Materials fee: $150. Prerequisites: Art 132a or b or 133b, and Art 264a. Henk van Assen.

Art 367a, Intermediate Graphic Design. The increase and refining of perceptual skills as tools for effective visual communication. Analysis of a wide range of design examples and redesign of existing examples of visual communication. Materials fee: $150. Prerequisite: Art 132a or b or 133b. Henk van Assen.

Art 368b, Multimedia Design. A study of translation from one medium to another as both a constraint and a source of inspiration. Examination of a single theme through a progression of projects in various mediums, including interactive, motion, Web design, and print. Materials fee: $150. Prerequisite: at least one term of typography. Glen Cummings.

Art 468a and 469b, Advanced Graphic Design. Continued study of design in communication, combining theoretical studies with applied problems in graphic design. Materials fee: $150. Prerequisites: Art 264a and 265b. Glen Cummings and Scott Stowell.

Graphic Design 710a and 711b, Preliminary Studio. For three-year graphic design graduate students. This studio offers an intensive course of study in the fundamentals of graphic design and visual communication. Emphasis is on developing a strong formal foundation and conceptual skills. Broad issues such as typography, color, composition, letterforms, interactive and motion graphics skills, and production technology are addressed through studio assignments. Greer Allen, Barbara Glauber, and Douglass Scott.

Graphic Design 720, Graduate Studio. For students entering the two-year program. The first-year core studio is composed of a number of intense workshops taught by resident and visiting faculty. These core workshops grow from a common foundation, each assignment asking the student to reconsider a letter, text, tape, space, or object in a new way. We encourage the search for connections and relationships between the projects.
Rather than seeing courses as being discreet, our faculty teaching other term-long classes expect to be shown work done in the core studio. Over the course of the term, the resident core studio faculty help students identify nascent interests and possible thesis areas. Sheila Levrant de Bretteville, Glen Cummings, Paul Elliman, Peter Hall, Armand Mevis, Susan Sellers, and Linda van Deursen.

Graphic Design 730, Graduate Studio. For second-year graduate students. This studio focuses simultaneously on the study of established design structures and personal interpretation of those structures. The program includes an advanced core class and seminar in the fall; independent project development, presentation, and individual meetings with writing editors who support the ongoing independent project research throughout the year. Other master classes, workshops, bookbinding tutorials, and lectures augment studio work. The focus of the second year is the independent project, and a significant proportion of the work is self-motivated and self-directed. Michael Bierut, Sheila Levrant de Bretteville, Paul Elliman, Peter Hall, and Michael Rock.

Graphic Design 739, Degree Presentation in Graphic Design. For second-year graduate students. Resolution of the design of the independent project fitting the appropriate form to its content and audience. At the end of the second term, two library copies of all independent project work are submitted by each student, one of which is retained by the University and the other returned to the student. The independent project is expected to represent a significant body of work accomplished over the course of two years, culminating in the design of an exhibition of the work. Sheila Levrant de Bretteville, Jessica Helfand, Bethany Johns, Michael Rock, and Lisa Strausfeld.

Graphic Design 740a, Typographic Form + Meaning. Creating typography that says what it means and means something more. Conventional typography is ostensibly unlearned to bring words and meaning into focus as important drivers of visual form-making and the development of a formal language. An essential by-product is expanding the conceptual framework of projects through responding to formal experimentation and innovation. Projects are print-based, providing various phases of vivisection and reconstitution of individual content and direction. All content is self-initiated, drawing from the student’s thesis and related subjects. Allen Hori.

Graphic Design 742b, Visual Computing I: Introduction to Computational Form. While the computer has been widely adopted by graphic designers as a production tool, its role as a medium in its own right is still in its infancy. Traditional print design looks the way it does partly because of the tools we use, but more profoundly because of the nature and constraints of the offset printing medium. The goal of this class is to look very closely at the unique formal characteristics of a computational medium, and through a series of explorations, to invent and extend a formal vocabulary. Class time is spent looking at examples of digital work, talking about computational form and interactive design concepts, discussing related readings, and reviewing assignments. Assignments are implemented in Flash and posted to the class Web site. Limited enrollment; enrollment not limited to design students. Chris Edwards.
Graphic Design 743a, Type Design. Type design is distinct from “lettering” in that it necessarily calls for a systematic approach, not just a concern for individual forms. The course focuses on a clear, systematic procedure to building the design of a typeface, as well as the aesthetic issues presented by single letters. The class is taught with Fontographer, a type-design program for the Macintosh® that allows designers to digitize letterforms on screen and turn them into usable PostScript Type One fonts. Fontographer’s ability to output digitized characters at actual size on a laser printer brings a level of reality to the project that was not practicable by pre-computer methods. Students learn the software, together with the principles of designing and spacing type. Fully fledged type designers are not made in one term; the object is to “demystify” the subject and teach users of type an increased appreciation of it. Students work on individual projects, chosen in consultation with the instructors. Individual projects should be carefully chosen, so that the availability of the student’s new font makes a real contribution and serves a clear purpose. With the problems of type design so deeply interconnected, a clearly defined project is necessary to establish solid criteria for subsequent work. The nature of the project determines the route each student takes in researching his or her design. If appropriate to the project, students spend time rendering letterforms by hand, investigating historical sources, or starting immediately in Fontographer. Tobias Frere-Jones and Matthew Carter.

Graphic Design 744a, 4-D Design. This course provides opportunities to explore how the conventions of print typography and the dynamics of word-image relationships change with the introduction of time, motion, and sound. There is a sequence of problems of increasing length, often with personal choice of subject matter. Most weeks we spend part of our class period looking at selected film and video examples and talking about how they work. Our work focuses on the controlled interaction of words and images to express an idea or tell a story. The goal is to experience firsthand, using simple tools and techniques, the extra dimensions of time-based communications, and to learn to choreograph aural and visual images through selection, editing, and juxtaposition. While problems center on linear narrative forms, by exploring the extra dimensions of time, motion, and sound (the actual stuff of the world we live in) we also anticipate the unique issues of nonlinear and interactive media: engagement, action and feedback, orientation and navigation. Christopher Pullman.

Graphic Design 752a, Visual Computing II: Visualization and Dynamic Data. This second class in the Visual Computing sequence explores the dynamic relationship between data and visual form. While most design education has dealt with design for static pieces of information, this class deals primarily with designing visual experiences that change over time in response to information that flows through them. Like living organisms, these designs can interact and change with their environment. The overall focus of this class is on experimentation, visualization, and designing new ways of working with dynamic content. Each student works on one term-long project, including a document explaining the overall process. Eddie Opara and George Plesko.
Graphic Design 762b, Visual Computing III: Site + Sign. This final class in the interactive design sequence focuses on the advanced exploration of thesis topics in the context of a computational medium. The class is structured like an independent study. We begin by discussing each student’s goals, from which we define a set of projects as well as a process for their development over the term. Students are expected to be proficient in Lingo, Javascript, or Actionscript. Ben Rubin and Lisa Strausfeld.

Master Classes in Graphic Design are one or two weeks in duration and generally take place at the beginning of the term when both teacher and students are free to devote full time to a single, intensive project. In recent years, master classes have been conducted by Irma Boom, Matthew Carter, and Karel Martens. Students are admitted at the discretion of the instructor.

PAINTING/PRINTMAKING

Art 111a or b, Visual Fundamentals. An introduction to the language of visual expression, using studio projects to explore the fundamental principles of visual art. Students acquire a working knowledge of visual syntax applicable to the study of art history and popular culture, as well as art. No prior drawing experience is necessary. This course is required for all art majors. Materials fee: $25. Sarah Oppenheimer and faculty.

Art 114a or b, Basic Drawing. An introduction to drawing, emphasizing pictorial syntax and the articulation of space. Class work is based on observational study. Assigned projects address fundamental technical and conceptual problems suggested by historical and recent artistic practice. This course is required for all art majors. Materials fee: $25. Clint Jukkala, Kurt Kauper, Sarah Oppenheimer, Robert J. Reed, Jr., and faculty.

Art 115b, Basic Drawing Studio. Further exploration of ideas and techniques in drawing, expanding students’ understanding of the syntax of visual communication. Class work encompasses a wide range of approaches to drawing. Through independent projects, students are encouraged to develop their capacity for critically informed, individual expression. Materials fee: $25. Prerequisite: Art 114a or b. Kurt Kauper and Robert J. Reed, Jr.

Art 116b, Color. Study of the interaction of color, ranging from fundamental problem solving to individually initiated expression. The collage process is used for most class assignments. Richard Lytle.

Art 130a or b, Painting Basics. A one-term introduction to painting issues, stressing a beginning command of the conventions of pictorial space and the language of color. Class assignments and individual projects explore technical, conceptual, and historical issues central to the language of painting. Materials fee: $75. Prerequisite: Art 114a or b or permission. Rochelle Feinstein and Clint Jukkala.

Art 220a, Intermediate Drawing. Continued study of drawing as visual language, focusing on deeper understanding of formal and conceptual issues. Materials fee: $75. Prerequisites: Art 114a or b and 115b. Faculty.
Art 230, Introductory Painting. A yearlong introduction to concepts and techniques in painting, through observational study, with emphasis on the language of color and the articulation of space. Individual projects encourage the pursuit of students’ personal and historical interests, including issues in nonobjective painting. The study of pictorial syntax in historical painting and the mastery of materials and techniques are integral components of the course. Enrollment limited to fifteen. Materials fee: $75 per term. Prerequisites: Art 114a or b and one term of Art 111a or b, 115b, 116b, or 130a or b. Robert J. Reed, Jr., and faculty.

Art 356a and 357b, Printmaking. Instruction in various printmaking mediums. Relief and reduction techniques, collagraphs, monotypes, and drypoint are taught in the fall term. The spring term begins with drypoint and continues with etching and intaglio techniques, including projects in color. Group and individual projects stress the specificity of the mediums. May be taken more than once. Materials fee: $150. Prerequisites: Art 114a or b and one term of Art 111a or b, 115b, 116b, or 130a or b. Rochelle Fein-stein and Norm Paris.

Art 359b, Lithography. Basic techniques of stone and photo lithography. Students complete five individual projects investigating the potential of lithographic techniques. Topics include a brief introduction to lithography as an historical medium. Materials fee: $150. Prerequisites: Art 114a or b and one term of Art 111a or b, 115b, 116b, or 130a or b. Rochelle Fein-stein and Norm Paris.

Art 421b, Advanced Drawing. Further instruction in drawing related to all four disciplines taught in the art major. Emphasis on the development of students’ conceptual thinking in the context of the physical reality of the drawing process. Class time is divided between studio work, group critiques, discussion of assigned readings, and visits to working artists’ studios. Enrollment limited to senior art majors or by permission of the instructor. Materials fee: $75. Sam Messer.

Art 524b, Materials and Techniques Seminar. Study of materials and techniques in painting, surveying the use of pigments, grounds, and oil-based media, as well as synthetic media such as lucite, rhoplex, and polyvinyl acetate. Open to undergraduate art majors with permission. Daniel Bozhkov.
Art 537a, The Conceptual Figure. This course is both a seminar for the study of the recent history of figurative painting and a forum for the critique of student work. Class time is divided between slide lectures, group critiques, and individual studio visits. A model is available for students wishing to work from life. Lectures investigate motivational and conceptual links within groupings of figurative artists who, working within the historically charged subject matter of the human figure, share related conceptual and formal territory. Lectures concentrate most heavily on American and European artists since the 1960s, but pre-modern and modern antecedents are also discussed. Readings are assigned on a weekly basis. Films may also be screened. Kurt Kauper.

[Painting 538a, Collage. An investigation of collage as it relates to pictorial structure, content, and contemporary ideas of image fabrication. Not offered in 2004–2005.]

Drawing 540a, Graduate Drawing Seminar. Studio practice and theory focusing on the nature of drawing and emphasizing the development of each student’s ideas and work. Different systems and conventions of drawing and visual organization are explored within weekly group critiques. Frances Barth.

Painting 545, Individual Criticism. Limited to graduate painting students. Criticism of individual projects. Frances Barth, Mel Bochner, Carroll Dunham [Sp], Rochelle Feinstein, Peter Halley, Clint Jukkala, Kurt Kauper, Wayne Koestenbaum, Sean Landers, Richard Lytle [Sp], Samuel Messer [Sp], Catherine Murphy [F], Elizabeth Peyton [F], and Robert J. Reed, Jr.

Printmaking 550a and b, Graduate Printmaking Seminar. This course is intended for graduate students who wish to develop individual projects in a wide range of printmaking mediums, including both traditional techniques and digital processes and outputs. Participants develop new works and present them in biweekly group critiques. Students should have sufficient technical background in traditional printmaking mediums (etching, lithography, silkscreen, or relief) as well as a fundamental understanding of graphic programs such as Photoshop. At the beginning of the term, demonstrations in traditional mediums are offered in the print studio. Students use the DMCA for digital work. Rochelle Feinstein and faculty.

Painting 552b, Portrait Construction. Confronting portraiture in the era of media representation, each student formulates a project portraying a unique individual. At the end of the term, students make artist’s books showcasing their projects. The class culminates in a group show of all student projects. Samuel Messer.

Painting 553a, LABoratory. This course investigates the pictorial devices, conceptual positions, tropes, pedagogies, and contexts surrounding the practice of painting in America from the mid-1950s to the present. Paintings are viewed and discussed in relation to other current practices, as well as in terms of the ambient cultural/social environment. A wide variety of contemporaneous source material is read, screened, and discussed. Assigned projects and presentations are premised upon the specific issues suggested by the works under discussion. Students are required to read assigned short texts weekly and screen film and video materials on a regular basis. Rochelle Feinstein.
Painting 555a, Critical Perspectives: Art in Postwar Europe. A discussion of the nature of the postwar agon between Paris and New York, emphasizing contingency and circumstances—what happened where, and how circumstance contributed to distinctive developments. After the Second World War, Paris remained the axis of cultural and historical developments for Europeans. Most of the artists of the postwar generation positioned themselves in relation to France, even as they rebelled against it. Many artists, poets, painters, sculptors, essayists, and novelists spoke of beginning from “degree zero,” but in fact took up the challenges of early modernism as angry or ironic interlocutors. Meets biweekly. Dore Ashton.

Painting 559, Language Enters the Studio. A theory/practice seminar investigating the relationship of language, both as a system of signs and as a social system, to contemporary art practice of the last thirty years. Readings include L. Wittgenstein, J. Derrida, R. Smithson, D. Graham, R. Krauss, and B. Buchloh. Studio assignments and group critiques of assigned projects. Meets biweekly all year. Enrollment limited to second-year M.F.A. students only; enrollment not limited to painting students. Mel Bochner.

Painting 560b, Writing for Artists. This seminar is designed to help graduate students develop and refine their writing skills. In weekly assignments, students write short pieces of the kind often requested from practicing artists, such as statements, reviews, proposals, and autobiographical sketches. Class time focuses on the use of editing to achieve stylistic clarity. Meets weekly for 1.5 credits. Enrollment limited to twelve with permission of instructor. Peter Halley.

Painting 583b, Feminist Artists/Feminist Practices. This seminar examines feminist practices through a wide range of artworks and writings. What is feminism? What are “feminisms”? How is the history, past and present, of feminism evidenced in contemporary practice? Meets biweekly. Enrollment not limited to painting students. Joyce Kozloff.

Painting 590b, Painting/Digital. A seminar aimed at broadening students’ understanding of digital techniques in painting. Sessions focus on the review of students’ own investigations and studies. The varied uses of digital techniques in recent painting are also discussed and analyzed. Taught in conjunction with the DMCA. Meets biweekly. Fabian Marcaccio.

Art 135a or b, Introductory Photography. An intense exploration of photography as an expressive medium. Initially, students are exposed to those technical and aesthetic issues that relate specifically to photography. Later, they take on more extended problems requiring self-direction. Enrollment limited. Materials fee: $150. David Hilliard and faculty.

Art 374a and 375b, Intermediate Photography. A course that involves a weekly critique of current student work and offers more advanced technical instruction, as well as slide presentations and readings in photographic history and criticism. Materials fee: $150. Prerequisite: Art 135a or b. David Hilliard and faculty.
Art 401a and 402b, Advanced Photography. An applied course in advanced photographic practice and thinking. May be taken more than once. Materials fee: $150. Prerequisite: Art 374a or 375b or equivalent. Gregory Crewdson and Tod Papageorge.

Photography 822a, Introductory Technical Seminar in Photography. Limited to first-year graduate students in photography, this course examines the basic technical processes of black-and-white and color photography, and introduces students to the computer as a tool of photographic investigation. Richard Benson.

Photography 823b, Technical Seminar in Color Photography. Priority given to graduate students in photography. This course closely examines technical and aesthetic issues raised by the practice of color photography. Gregory Crewdson.

Photography 824a, Technical Seminar in Alternative Processes. Priority given to graduate students in photography. An intensive examination of nonsilver printing, including the platinum, palladium, computer, and kallitype processes. Faculty.

Photography 825a, Technical Seminar in Photographic Reproduction. Priority given to graduate students in photography. A general examination of the production of photographic books, including an investigation of the processes of photographic reproduction. Richard Benson.

Photography 845, Individual Criticism. Limited to graduate photography students. Ongoing work is reviewed at weekly seminar meetings and privately. Tod Papageorge, Gregory Crewdson, Philip-Lorca diCorcia, Roni Horn, Collier Schorr, and faculty.

Sculpture

Art 120a or b, Introductory Sculpture. This course explores the range of what sculpture might be and familiarizes students with current genres and issues in contemporary sculpture. Assignments are designed to help students develop a personal way of working alongside, and in response to, the history of contemporary art. Attention is paid throughout to understanding and articulating formal structure, both physical and conceptual. Group discussion complements the studio work. The shops and the studio will be available during class time and during days and evenings throughout the week. Enrollment limited to twelve. Materials fee: $75. Bonnie Collura, Joe Scanlan, and Robert Taplin.

Art 210a and 211b, Sculpture as Object. Introduction to concepts of design and form in sculpture. In the fall term, exploration of the use of wood, including both modern and traditional methods of carving, lamination, assemblage, and finishing. In the spring term, exploration of the use of steel, including the fundamentals of metal processes such as welding, cutting, grinding, and finishing. Group discussion complements the studio work. The shops and the studio are available during days and evenings throughout the week. Enrollment limited to twelve. Materials fee: $75. Daphne Fitzpatrick.
Art 345a, More Sculpture. In this course students continue to work in response to assignments. The assignments are designed to provide further investigation into the history of making and thinking in sculpture and to raise questions pertinent to contemporary art. The opportunity exists to explore new techniques and materials while honing familiar skills. This course is designed to help students become self-directed in their work. Individual and group discussion, and visits to museums and galleries, play a significant role in this course. Enrollment limited to twelve. Materials fee: $75. Prerequisite: one term of introductory-level sculpture or equivalent, or permission of instructor. Ester Partegás.

Art 346b, Drawing as Sculpture. Investigation of how the elements of basic drawing—observation, hand/eye coordination, markmaking, shading, and touch—can be expanded into three-dimensional space. Emphasis on broad technical skill, material experimentation, and spatial perception. Enrollment limited to twelve. Materials fee: $75. Prerequisites: Art 114a or b and one other introductory-level art course. Joe Scanlan.

Art 445a and 446b, Advanced Sculpture. This course provides the opportunity for a program of self-directed work in sculpture. Group discussion of student projects, and readings, slides, and video that address current art practice, are core to this class. Regular individual and group critiques monitor the progress of each independent project. Enrollment limited to twelve. Materials fee: $75. Prerequisite: one term of intermediate-level sculpture or equivalent, or permission of instructor. Joe Scanlan [F] and Jessica Stockholder [Sp].

Sculpture 630, Studio Seminar. Limited to graduate sculpture students. Jessica Stockholder and faculty.

Sculpture 632a, Laboratory in Instrument Design and the Mechanical Arts. Familiarization with modern machine shop practices and techniques. Use of basic metalworking machinery and instruction in techniques of precision measurement and properties of commonly used metals, alloys, and plastics. David Johnson.

Sculpture 649b, Critical Issues Seminar. This course is designed to engage issues important to making art through reading and discussion. The content of the readings is designated by the instructor and available at registration. Enrollment not limited to sculpture students. Hirsch Perlman.

Sculpture 651a and 652b, Video Seminar. This seminar focuses on facilitating the work of graduate students who are actively engaged in producing videos. It encourages the development of student work by creating informational and creative relays between student production and the work of other video artists. Class time is spent discussing student work, reading artists’ writings on video and theoretical texts, and viewing a wide array of art video. Enrollment limited to twelve graduate art students; enrollment not limited to sculpture students. Haluk Akakce and Cheryl Donegan.

YALE COLLEGE ART MAJOR

Director of Undergraduate Studies: Henk van Assen.

Yale College, the undergraduate division of Yale University, offers a Bachelor of Arts degree program with a major in art. Undergraduate applicants wishing to major in art at Yale must apply to Yale College directly. Please contact the Office of Undergraduate Admissions, PO Box 208234, 38 Hillhouse Avenue, New Haven CT 06520-8234, 203.432.9300 (http://www.yale.edu/admit/).

The program in art offers courses that, through work in a variety of media, provide an experience in the visual arts as part of a liberal education as well as preparation for graduate study and professional work. Courses at the 100 level stress the fundamental aspects of visual formulation and articulation. Courses numbered 200 through 499 offer increasingly intensive study leading to greater specialization in one or more of the visual disciplines such as graphic design, painting/printmaking, photography, and sculpture.

The prerequisites for the major in art are four terms of introductory 100-level courses, including Basic Drawing and Visual Fundamentals, and a favorable faculty review of work done in studio courses prior to the end of sophomore year. Each area of concentration defines the specific requirements in that area on both the introductory and advanced levels.

Students who wish to apply for the major in art are required to present work from studio courses taken at Yale to the art faculty in the form of a sophomore review at the end of the spring term of sophomore year.

For graduation as an art major, a total of sixteen [16] terms in the major field is required. These sixteen terms must include six terms of 100-level courses (two of which must be Basic Drawing and Visual Fundamentals), three terms of art history (up to two terms of this requirement may be fulfilled by related courses, e.g., American Studies, with DUS approval), a sophomore review, five terms of 200- to 400-level courses in art including three in the student’s area of concentration, and a double-credit Senior Project of creative work. A suggested program guideline is as follows:

Freshman Year: Studio courses, three terms
Sophomore Year: Studio courses, three terms
Junior Year: Studio courses, three terms
Senior Year: Studio courses, four terms including the Senior Project

Art history, one term
Art history, one term
Art history, one term

Permission of instructor required in all art courses.

Graduate courses may be elected by advanced undergraduate art majors who have completed all undergraduate courses in a particular area of study and who have permission of the director of undergraduate studies as well as the course instructor.
Undergraduates are normally limited to credit for four terms of graduate- or professional-level courses (courses numbered 500 and above). Please refer to the section on Academic Regulations in Yale College Programs of Study for further pertinent details.

HISTORY OF ART

The Department of the History of Art at 56 High Street is a department of the Division of Humanities of Yale College and the Graduate School. It offers introductory, intermediate, and advanced courses to students who are interested in (a) entering a major field of study in Yale College, (b) preparing for professional, academic, or museum careers, or (c) supplementing studies in other fields. The department offers a major in Yale College and a program leading to the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in the Graduate School. For a detailed description of courses and requirements see the bulletin Yale College Programs of Study and the bulletin of the Graduate School, Programs and Policies.

The history of art is concerned with a union of visual and verbal experience. It tries to explore the character and meaning of human action through a perception of works of art visually analyzed and verbally expressed. It does not ignore textual and literary evidence or any of the other materials of history, but its special relevance to human knowledge and competence lies in its own construction of the written, the seen, and the spoken. It deals with the entire man-made environment and its relation to the natural world, and therefore offers courses in the history of all the arts from architecture and urbanism to graphics and the movies.

Students of the history of art at Yale make extensive use of University collections, such as those of the Art Gallery, the Peabody Museum, and the Yale Center for British Art. The department profits from its relationship with the School of Art and the other professional schools and welcomes students from them.
Digital Lab

The Digital Lab of the School of Art is a Macintosh®-based facility for graduate students of the School from all areas of study and undergraduate art majors. The Lab contains seven PowerMac computers capable of video editing, photo manipulation, illustration, and interactive media design. There is a Hewlett-Packard large-format printer capable of printing at 600 dpi at sizes up to 36 x 42 inches, an Epson Stylus Color 3000 capable of printing at 1440 dpi at sizes up to 11 x 17 inches, and a black-and-white laser printer. There are also scanners, as well as a Nikon slide scanner for negatives and slides. Digital projectors and equipment are available for overnight loan; however, all students who work digitally are expected to have their own portable FireWire hard drive.

The Digital Lab has been created because students and faculty in all disciplines are showing a growing interest in the capabilities of computer technology. The Lab exists outside of any single department and is a place where students of diverse artistic backgrounds and interests can work together with these exciting tools. The Lab is designed as a flexible facility that will change through time as new technologies become practical and available.

The Lab is staffed by a digital technology faculty member and a crew of computing assistants until 10:30 p.m. daily, but it is otherwise available twenty-four hours a day during the academic year for graduate art students, faculty, and undergraduate art majors.
Digital Media Center for the Arts

The Digital Media Center for the Arts (DMCA) at 149 York Street is a multimedia facility that was created to establish connections between traditional art and the computer age. The Center was conceived and designed by Yale's leaders in art, architecture, drama, history of art, film studies, and music, and from the University Art Gallery, the Center for British Art, the Arts Library, and Information Technology Services working closely with the offices of the President and Provost. The DMCA encourages and enables discovery and creation within the arts area schools and departments. Beyond providing classroom and library facilities, it provides instruction and equipment that allow faculty and students in all arts disciplines to experiment and work in the diverse fields of electronic media.
Ralph Mayer Learning Center

Through the generosity of the late Bena Mayer, a painter and the widow of Ralph Mayer, author of The Artist’s Handbook of Techniques and Materials, The Painter’s Craft, and A Dictionary of Art Terms and Techniques, archives related to her husband’s research and writings have been given to the Yale University School of Art for the establishment of the Ralph Mayer Learning Center. The purpose of the Center is to support research and writing on the use of materials, and for the study of artists’ techniques in the field of drawing and painting. A seminar entitled “Techniques,” which has been part of the curriculum of the Yale School of Art for over fifty years, is augmented by the Center.

Original Mayer manuscripts and memorabilia are included in the collection of the Yale University Arts Library and available on a noncirculating basis to members of the Yale community and the public. The School offers to answer in writing inquiries regarding the use of artists’ materials. Requests for information about this service should be addressed to Richard Benson, Dean, Yale University School of Art, Ralph Mayer Learning Center, PO Box 208339, New Haven CT 06520-8339.
The Yale University Art Gallery at 1111 Chapel Street is the oldest university art museum in the Western hemisphere, having been founded in 1832 when the patriot-artist John Trumbull gave more than one hundred of his paintings to Yale. Since then its collections have grown to number over eighty thousand objects from all periods of the history of art from ancient Egyptian times to the present.

Highlights include masterpieces by van Gogh, Manet, Monet, Picasso, Homer, and Eakins, as well as the distinguished Société Anonyme collection of early modernist art. There are notable collections of Etruscan and Greek vases; early Italian paintings; and Chinese paintings, ceramics, bronzes, and textiles; as well as a comprehensive collection of master prints, drawings, and photographs. The Art Gallery’s collection of American paintings and decorative arts is considered one of the finest in the world.

The main building of the Yale Art Gallery, designed by the distinguished American architect Louis I. Kahn, was completed in 1953. Although it was the first modern-style building on the Yale campus, it harmonizes with Egerton Swartwout’s Italian gothic Art Gallery of 1928, with which it is connected on the first and third floors.

The Kahn building will be closed for renovation until early 2006. The hub of the museum’s activities will be the adjacent Swartwout building, housing Yale’s world-renowned collections of American paintings, sculpture, and decorative arts, as well as a selection of masterworks from all other departments.

While focusing on its role as a center for scholarly research in the history of art and museum training for graduate and undergraduate students at Yale, the Art Gallery also maintains an active schedule of public education programming.
Yale Center for British Art

The Yale Center for British Art at 1080 Chapel Street is a public museum and research institute devoted to the study of a single culture. Its principal resource is the collection of British paintings, drawings, prints, rare books, and sculpture given to the University by the late Paul Mellon (Yale Class of 1929).

The collection contains masterpieces by the leading artists who worked in Britain from the sixteenth century to the present, including Hogarth, Gainsborough, Reynolds, Stubbs, Constable, Turner, and Bonington. British sporting art, the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood, the Camden Town School, and the Bloomsbury Group are well represented, together with more recent twentieth-century British art.

Extensive collections of watercolors, drawings, prints, and rare books are available for public consultation. The Center contains a reference library of 20,000 volumes, accessible on Orbis, and an archive of 200,000 photographs depicting British art from the Renaissance to the present, with a computerized index.

The Center mounts a regular program of changing exhibitions throughout the year and offers films, concerts, lectures, gallery talks, docent tours, and special programs for children.

An affiliated institution in London, the Paul Mellon Centre for Studies in British Art, awards grants for research, assists in publishing manuscripts on British art, and serves as the home of the Yale-in-London program.

The Yale Center for British Art is the final building designed by the American architect Louis I. Kahn (1901–74). It opened to the public in 1977 and stands across the street from his first major commission, the Yale University Art Gallery (1953).
The Arts Library, which was established soon after 1868, is located on the first floor at 180 York Street. It contains more than 100,000 volumes on architecture, painting, sculpture, graphic design, urban planning, and the history of art and architecture. It serves as the working library for the schools of Art and Architecture, the History of Art department, and the Yale University Art Gallery, and as adjunct library for the Yale Center for British Art. The collection offers basic reference works, monographs, exhibition catalogues, and other scholarly works in the fields of art and architecture; periodicals, including nearly 500 current subscriptions; and a growing suite of networked digital library resources.

Sterling Memorial Library contains approximately 90,000 additional volumes on art and architecture, as well as related collections in such fields as archaeology, anthropology, film, history, and literature.

The Arts Library Visual Resources Collection, on the first floor of Street Hall, contains approximately 325,000 slides, 200,000 mounted photographs, and a growing collection of several thousand digital images of cultural heritage objects.

Also organizationally part of the Arts Library is the Arts of the Book Collection at Sterling Memorial Library, which has rich collections on the book arts, fine printing, typography, and book illustration. The Classics Library at Phelps Gate and the Drama Library in the University Theater complex are also affiliated organizationally with the Arts Library.

The Yale University Library consists of the central campus libraries—Sterling Memorial Library, Cross Campus Library, Beinecke Rare Book and Manuscript Library, and Seeley G. Mudd Library—and thirty school and departmental libraries, as well as a Library Shelving Facility in Hamden, Connecticut. Among the top-ranked university libraries in the country, the Yale University Library contains more than 10,800,000 volumes. Students have access to the collections and services of all the Yale libraries.

The Arts Library provides instructional and reference services in art and architecture. Its staff is eager to assist students and faculty in exploring the rich library resources of Yale University.
Entrance Requirements

The School of Art requires for admission a high degree of capability and commitment. Applicants must hold a bachelor’s degree from an accredited college or university or a diploma from a four-year accredited professional art school. Admission to the School of Art is on a highly selective and competitive basis.

ADMISSION

Students are admitted only in September of each year. The admissions committee’s decisions on preliminary selection are mailed in mid-February and final selection decisions are mailed in mid-April. No decision can be given over the telephone or the Internet. To apply for more than one area of concentration, separate applications, fees, and supporting documentation must be filed. The work submitted should be representative of the applicant’s experience in that particular field.

Application files are maintained for a period of two years and reapplicants are advised to correspond with the director of academic affairs prior to submitting a new application to avoid unnecessary duplication of supporting documents. The minimum requirement for reapplicants is a new application form with fee and slide portfolio by the application deadline.

Preliminary Selection

Application Deadline: Applications and all supporting documentation including slide portfolios must be postmarked before January 12 and none will be accepted after Friday, January 21, regardless of the postmark date. Application and reference forms are inserted at the end of this bulletin. Only the following materials are acceptable and all must be in the applicant’s admissions file at the Office of Academic Affairs, Yale University School of Art, 1156 Chapel Street, PO Box 208339, New Haven CT 06520-8339 by the stated deadline. Yale University has many departments and schools (including the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, which is completely unrelated), so all materials must be addressed carefully to ensure that they are received by the School of Art.

1. The application form, with the nonrefundable application fee of $75 payable to Yale University in the form of a money order only. Money orders may be obtained at local banks or post offices. No personal checks will be accepted, and this fee cannot be waived. In order to establish an admissions file, these must be submitted together before the transcripts, letters of recommendation, and slides are sent. The application fee alone cannot be used to open an admissions file, so please do not send it separately. Therefore, applicants are advised not to hand out reference forms or request transcripts to be forwarded until they have first sent in their application with fee. An admissions file may be opened as early as July and, as it generally takes several weeks to complete a file, it is strongly recommended that applicants open their admissions file in early December to ensure a complete file for the admissions committee. International applicants should be certain to file at least one month earlier unless using a special courier service. Please note that the School of Art is not part of the Yale University Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, and we do not accept application forms from this or any other school at the University; please make certain that only the School of Art application materials inserted at the end of this bulletin are used and that they are carefully hand-printed or typed.

2. Official transcripts of the academic record for the bachelor’s degree and/or transcripts from professional art schools attended. Neither junior college transcripts nor Graduate Record Examination (GRE) scores are required. Individuals who have had their last name changed since they were in school should make certain that when the transcript is sent, it refers to the same name as that on the application form.

3. References from three persons practicing or teaching in the field in which application is made, attesting to the applicant’s ability and competence in that field. Forms are provided and should be sent directly by the writer to the address indicated at the top of the form, or included with the application in sealed envelopes.

NOTE: Because the admissions committee reviews applications shortly after the deadline, time limitations preclude the inclusion in the applicant’s file of any supporting documents received after January 21. Please impress this fact on the people who will be writing on your behalf.

All preliminary supporting documents except slides that have been submitted as a requirement for admission become a part of the official file and cannot be returned to the student or forwarded to another institution either in copy or original form.

4. A one-page essay (preferably typed) that includes reasons for applying to the Yale School of Art and addresses the work in terms of one’s influences, interests, research, and current direction (do not include a separate “artist’s statement”). List your name and area of study at the top and attach one 8-1/2 x 11 or smaller photocopy or photograph of one piece that is represented in the slide portfolio. The essay may be included with either the application or the portfolio.

5. Portfolio of work. Applicants who fail to submit a portfolio as outlined in this bulletin and on our Web site by the stated deadline will not be considered. Applicants in Painting/Printmaking or Photography must send examples of work in slides only for Preliminary Selection. Applicants in Graphic Design or Sculpture may submit slides or digital files but not both. Please note, however, that the admissions committee will only be able to review digital material that is formatted for Macintosh® computers and prepared in strict adherence to the specifications outlined on the School of Art Web site at www.yale.edu/art/entrancerequirements/digital/.

Portfolios must be postmarked before January 12, and none will be accepted after Friday, January 21, regardless of the postmark date. Applicants are strongly urged to mail examples of their work no later than the first week in January and to use a guaranteed overnight courier if mailed any later.

SLIDES MUST BE SET FOR VIEWING IN A KODAK CAROUSEL SLIDE TRAY (UNIVERSAL OR TRANSVUE 80 CHARGEUR). SUBMIT NO MORE THAN 20 (TWENTY) PROFESSIONAL-QUALITY COLOR SLIDES — 35MM ONLY. The slides should indicate the individual’s major interest and direction and, in addition, should demonstrate the applicant’s ability. Sort the slides in chronological order ending with the most recent (at least half should represent work done in the last year). Mark the front of each slide (do not use labels to mark slides as these can jam in the projector) with your name and the date in the upper left corner, and with its number and a dot in the lower left corner.

When the slides are loaded properly (upside down and backwards), these dots will be visible near the outer rim of the carousel. It is recommended as a precautionary measure that duplicates be kept of the slides that are sent and that time is taken to view the slides on a projector to ensure that they are loaded properly and that they accurately represent the work.

The School of Art will not take responsibility for improperly packaged or postaged carousels that are lost in the mail. The following instructions must be strictly adhered to in the packaging of the carousel slide box:

(a) SLIDE INVENTORY: Enclose inside the carousel box a slide inventory, headed with your name and the area of study to which application is being made (Graphic Design, Painting/Printmaking, Photography, or Sculpture) and listing for each slide in chronological order: date of the work, dimensions of the work, medium, and title if any.

(b) RETURN POSTAGE: If you would like your slides returned, you must supply return postage or a UPS “Call-Tag.”

Preferred: United Parcel Service (UPS). By far the easiest method of shipping your slides is via UPS, www.ups.com/. You may request a prepaid “Call-Tag” for the carousel box’s return at the same time that you arrange for shipping. International applicants may also use DHL.

Alternate: U.S. Postal Service. To package your slides, cover only the top of the carousel box (use only a designated carousel box, not any other kind of box) in plain brown paper and glue uncancelled stamps (not postage meter tape; the New Haven Post Office will not accept postage metered or cancelled in other cities) necessary for its return postage in the upper right corner. SLIDES WILL BE CONSIDERED DISPOSABLE IF POSTAGE IS NOT RECEIVED. (International applicants who are not able to obtain U.S. postage may send international postal coupons or a money order to cover the cost of return postage.) Center on the top of the carousel box a typed (or clearly printed) mailing label with the name and address to which you would like it returned. Please specify on the box whether postage is for Parcel Post or Priority Mail. Wrap the carousel box (which is now ready for return mail) in plain brown paper, or insert it in a large padded mailer or special courier box. Do not send unboxed carousels or use any other odd box for return mailing as we do not have storage space for extra or odd-size boxes and they will be discarded. Place your name and return address in the top left corner, necessary postage in the top right corner, and center the following mailing address: Office of Academic Affairs, Yale University School of Art, 1156 Chapel Street, PO Box 208339, New Haven CT 06520-8339.

NOTE: The Office of Academic Affairs will acknowledge receipt of application and supporting documents only if the applicant provides self-addressed, stamped postcards for this purpose. This information will not be given over the telephone.

Final Selection

Applicants who have passed the Preliminary Selection Jury will be notified by mail in mid-February. At this time, applicants are required to send or deliver original work to the School and will be invited to schedule an appointment for an individual interview. The interview is an important component of the final selection process.

APPLICANTS IN GRAPHIC DESIGN. Applicants should submit a portfolio of their work in any or all of these areas: graphic design print work, environmental design, broadcast/video graphics, letterform design, interactive media, and other related projects in the visual arts. Applicants are encouraged to present bodies of work that demonstrate special areas of interest. Academic or research papers may also be submitted in support of the application. Between ten and twenty works may be submitted.

APPLICANTS IN PAINTING/PRINTMAKING. Applicants in painting should submit no more than six paintings and six drawings. Applicants working in printmaking should submit no more than twenty prints. Arrangements cannot be made for the personal hanging/installation of the applicant’s work.

APPLICANTS IN PHOTOGRAPHY. Applicants should submit a portfolio of twenty-five to thirty photographic prints.

APPLICANTS IN SCULPTURE. Applicants should submit slides that document the individual’s latest work as well as additional slides of earlier work. Video may be submitted only if it is necessary to the understanding of the work.

ALL APPLICANTS. All original works should be accompanied by a complete inventory, and each work should bear the applicant’s name and return address.

Final notification of admission will be mailed in mid-April. Offers of admission are good only for the year in which they are made. We do not practice deferred admission. The Financial Aid Award letter will be mailed shortly after notification of admission. No decisions will be given in person or over the telephone. Following this announcement, a certification of satisfactory completion of the senior year and award of the degree must be submitted. Admission is not binding unless this certification is received.

An individual’s acceptance of admission to the School of Art must be received by May 15 and must be accompanied by a tuition deposit of $200 (payable to Yale University in the form of a money order or cashier’s check only) to reserve a place in the entering class.
If the School receives written notification, at least sixty days before registration for classes for the fall term, from an individual who has accepted admission indicating his or her decision not to matriculate, the tuition deposit will be refunded; if the School receives such notice less than sixty days before registration, no refund of the tuition deposit will be made. For those who do enroll, the tuition deposit will be credited toward tuition.

RETURN OF WORK

1. Work delivered by hand must be picked up on weekdays during hours and dates to be specified at a future time. Any hand-delivered work not taken during the specified time will be sent to a commercial warehouse for storage at the applicant’s expense unless other arrangements are made in advance.

2. Work submitted by mail or United Parcel Service must be accompanied by the return postage. We cannot return COD. If UPS is used, you may request a “Call-Tag” for its return from UPS when you make your shipping arrangements.

3. Work shipped must be prepaid and will be returned to the sender collect via Air Freight unless other arrangements are made.

Every precaution will be taken to secure the safety of the works submitted for review. However, the School of Art assumes no responsibility for loss or damage to the works from any cause.

OPEN HOUSE

The School of Art does not offer individual interviews until the applicant has passed the Preliminary Selection Jury. Instead, there will be an open-house introduction to the School at which representative members of the faculty will discuss the programs and applicants will be given a guided tour of the facilities. All applicants are encouraged to attend this briefing. The Open House will be held at the School, 1156 Chapel Street, on Thursday, November 18, 2004, from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Those planning to attend should notify the Office of Academic Affairs in advance. Applicants should not bring examples of their work to this meeting.

PART-TIME STUDENTS

Transfer, special, or part-time students are not accepted. There are no evening sessions.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

In order to undertake graduate study, international students must present evidence of competence in the use of the English language. This may be done by taking the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) which is administered by the Educational Testing Service, Box 955, Princeton NJ 08540. The TOEFL code number for the Yale University School of Art is 3982. The TOEFL score may be waived if the undergraduate degree has been obtained from a four-year, English-speaking institution. In order to receive visa documentation, admitted international students must submit proof that income from all sources will be sufficient to meet expenses for two years of study. In 2004–2005 annual expenses (including tuition) will amount to $41,480 for a single student. Evidence of funds may come from the following sources:

1. Affidavit from a bank;
2. Copy of a letter of award stating that financial assistance has been offered from sources other than Yale University;
3. Certification by parents of their ability and intention to provide the necessary funds;
4. Certification by employer of anticipated income.

The School of Art can make no promise of financial aid to international students. Even when financial aid is awarded, however, in no case does a Yale scholarship cover the full financial need of an international student. There are no loans available to international students through the School of Art.

All international students who wish to be appointed as teaching assistants during their second year must obtain a United States Social Security number in order to be paid.
Tuition, Fees, General Expenses

TUITION

The tuition fee for the academic year 2004–2005 is $23,700. This fee includes health care services under the Yale Health Plan, but does not include the hospitalization insurance fee. The Corporation of Yale University reserves the right to revise tuition rates as necessary.

Tuition Rebate and Refund Policy

Due to changes in federal regulations governing the return of federal student aid (Title IV) funds for withdrawn students, the tuition rebate and refund policy has changed from that of recent years. The following rules became effective on July 1, 2000:

1. For purposes of determining the refund of federal student aid funds, any student who withdraws from Yale School of Art for any reason during the first 60 percent of the term will be subject to a pro rata schedule, which will be used to determine the amount of Title IV funds a student has earned at the time of withdrawal. A student who withdraws after the 60 percent point has earned 100 percent of the Title IV funds. In 2004–2005, the last days for refunding federal student aid funds will be October 30 in the fall term and March 29 in the spring term.

2. For purposes of determining the refund of institutional aid funds and for students who have not received financial aid:
   a. 100 percent of tuition will be rebated for withdrawals that occur on or before the end of the first 10 percent of the term (September 10, 2004 in the fall term and January 20, 2005 in the spring term).
   b. A rebate of one-half (50 percent) of tuition will be granted for withdrawals that occur after the first 10 percent but on or before the last day of the first quarter of the term (September 25, 2004 in the fall term and February 6, 2005 in the spring term).
   c. A rebate of one-quarter (25 percent) of tuition will be granted for withdrawals that occur after the first quarter of a term but on or before the day of midterm (October 20, 2004 in the fall term and March 3, 2005 in the spring term).
   d. Students who withdraw for any reason after midterm will not receive a rebate of any portion of tuition.

3. The death of a student will cancel charges for tuition as of the date of death, and the bursar will adjust the tuition on a pro rata basis.

4. If the student has received student loans or other forms of financial aid, rebates will be refunded in the order prescribed by federal regulations; namely, first to the Unsubsidized Federal Stafford and/or Subsidized Federal Stafford loans, if any; then to Federal Perkins loan; next to any other federal, state, private, or institutional scholarships and loans; and, finally, any remaining balance to the student.

5. Loan recipients (Stafford, Perkins, or Yale Student Loan) who withdraw are required to have an exit interview before leaving Yale. Students leaving Yale receive a mailing from Student Financial Services with an exit packet and instructions on completing the process.
FEES

The following fees are charged each year to the Student Financial Services bill for use of and/or access to special facilities; this is a uniform mandatory fee that is refundable only upon withdrawal from the program, according to the tuition rebate schedule.

All Students: $1,300 hospitalization insurance
$500 refundable studio deposit
$10 per key refundable deposit (no refund on keys lost or stolen)

Undergraduate art majors: $200 per term facilities access/user fee

In addition, certain undergraduate courses bear materials fees, and graduate art students enrolled in them will be billed. Refunds on course fees will not be made after the second week of classes each term. No partial refunds will be made on course fees.

GENERAL EXPENSES

Housing

The Graduate Housing Department has dormitory and apartment units for a small number of graduate and professional students. The Graduate Dormitory Office provides dormitory rooms of varying sizes and prices for single occupancy only. The Graduate Apartments Office provides apartments consisting of efficiencies and one-, two-, and three-bedroom apartments for singles and families. Both offices are located in Helen Hadley Hall, a graduate dormitory at 420 Temple Street, and have office hours from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Applications for 2004–2005 are available as of April 1 online and can be submitted directly from the Web site (http://www.yale.edu/graduatehousing/). A copy of your letter of acceptance from Yale will need to be submitted to the address on the application form. The Web site is the venue for graduate housing information and includes procedures, facility descriptions, floor plans, and rates. For more dormitory information, contact beverly.whitney@yale.edu, tel. 203.432.2167, fax 203.432.4578. For more apartment information, contact betsy.rosenthal@yale.edu, tel. 203.432.8270, fax 203.432.0177.

The University’s Off-Campus Housing service, limited to current or incoming members of the Yale community, is located at 155 Whitney Avenue, 3d floor, and is open from 8.30 a.m. to 3.30 p.m., Monday through Friday. The listings may also be accessed from any computer at Yale through the intranet at http://www.yale.edu/offcampushousing/. Call 203.432.9756 to obtain the necessary passwords to access the system from other areas.

Dining at Yale

Yale University Dining Services has tailored its services to meet the particular concerns of graduate and professional school students by offering meal plan options. “Eli Bucks,” a favorite choice based on declining points, are accepted in all campus locations in lieu of cash. Whether residents or nonresidents of University housing, students are invited to take advantage of Yale University Dining Services.
The following dining areas and snack bars are available to students: A&A Penthouse at the School of Architecture; the Divinity School Cafe on Prospect Street; the dining room of the Kline Biology Tower; Donaldson Commons at the School of Management; and Durfee’s, a traditional convenience store offering coffee, snacks, sandwiches, soft yogurt, and a variety of convenience items. Students are also encouraged to dine in any of Yale's residential college dining rooms, where students without meal contracts may purchase “all-you-care-to-eat” meals at fixed prices for breakfast, lunch, and dinner. Payment for these meals can be arranged by securing a Yale charge account from the Office of Student Financial Services at 246 Church Street.

Inquiries concerning food services should be addressed to Yale University Dining Services, 246 Church Street, PO Box 208261, New Haven CT 06520-8261; telephone 1.888.678.9837 (toll free), or 203.432.0412. Dining Services can also be found on the Web at http://www.yale.edu/dining/.

STUDENT ACCOUNTS AND BILLS

Student accounts, billing, and related services are administered through the Office of Student Financial Services, which is located at 246 Church Street. The telephone number is 203.432.2700.

Yale Charge Account

Students who sign and return a Yale Charge Card Account Authorization form will be able to charge designated optional items and services to their student accounts. Students who want to charge toll calls made through the University's telephone system to their accounts must sign and return this Charge Card Account Authorization. The University may withdraw this privilege from students who do not pay their monthly bills on a timely basis. For more information, contact the Office of Student Financial Services at 246 Church Street, PO Box 208232, New Haven CT 06520-8232; telephone, 203.432.2700; fax, 203.432.7557; e-mail, sfs@yale.edu.

Yale Payment Plan

The Yale Payment Plan is a payment service that allows students and their families to pay tuition, room, and board in eleven or twelve equal monthly installments throughout the year based on individual family budget requirements. It is administered for the University by Academic Management Services (AMS). To enroll by telephone, call 800.635.0120. The fee to cover administration of the plan is $65. The deadline for enrollment is June 18. For additional information, please contact AMS at the number above or visit their Web site at http://www.tuitionpay.com/.

Bills

A student may not register for any term unless all bills due for that and for any prior term are paid in full.
Bills for tuition, room, and board are mailed to the student during the first week of July, due and payable by August 1 for the fall term; and during the first week of November, due and payable by December 1 for the spring term. The Office of Student Financial Services will impose a late charge if any part of the term bill, less Yale-administered loans and scholarships that have been applied for on a timely basis, is not paid when due. The late charge will be imposed as follows:

If fall-term payment in full is not received

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Late charge</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>by August 1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>by September 1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>by October 1</td>

</tbody>
</table>

If spring-term payment in full is not received

<table>

<th>Late charge</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>by December 1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>by January 2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>by February 1</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Nonpayment of bills and failure to complete and submit financial aid application packages on a timely basis may result in the student’s involuntary withdrawal from the University.

No degrees will be conferred and no transcripts will be furnished until all bills due the University are paid in full. In addition, transcripts will not be furnished to any student or former student who is in default on the payment of a student loan.

Charge for Returned Checks

A processing charge of $20 will be assessed for checks returned for any reason by the bank on which they were drawn. In addition, the following penalties may apply if a check is returned:

1. If the check was in payment of a term bill, a $110 late fee will be charged for the period the bill was unpaid.
2. If the check was in payment of a term bill to permit registration, the student’s registration may be revoked.
3. If the check was given in payment of an unpaid balance in order to receive a diploma, the University may refer the account to an attorney for collection.
Financial Aid

An applicant seeking financial assistance should complete by the end of February all requested financial aid applications and documents, including student and parental tax statements for 2004, to comply with the School’s April 1 deadline for receipt of processed data. Individuals in default of a student loan will not be granted a financial aid award until clearance of such a default is provided to the School. Financial aid, whether in the form of loan, scholarship, or job, is authorized contingent upon the student’s maintaining a satisfactory grade in all academic work during each term.

In conformity with University policy, financial assistance is determined only after a student has been accepted for admission and is awarded solely on the basis of financial need and available resources within the Yale School of Art. There are no scholarships based on merit or any criteria other than financial need. For the purpose of awards, the School determines need in accordance with formulas established by federal and institutional methodologies.

FINANCIAL AID DATA REQUIRED BY THE YALE SCHOOL OF ART

U.S. Citizens

1. The School of Art requires two financial aid application forms: The Free Application for Federal Student Assistance (FAFSA) and the Needs Access application. The School does not provide applications. An applicant must complete the FAFSA online at www.fafsa.ed.gov/ (800.433.3243). The Yale University School of Art FAFSA Code is 001426. The Needs Access application is online at www.needaccess.org/ (click on Apply Now) (800.282.1550). Applicants should complete their data by the end of February because it can take two to four weeks for materials to be processed by outside agencies.

2. A photocopy of the 2004 IRS 1040 and/or other relevant tax data for the prospective student and both parents regardless of the age or dependency of the student. All 2004 tax data must be received at the School by April 1, 2005. For those who have not completed their tax forms by that date, a signed draft 1040 form and photocopies of other attachments required by the IRS may be submitted until a final version is available.

Tax information from applicants and all parents, regardless of age or dependency of the applicant, is required in order to complete the forms and to make awards. Applicants twenty-five or younger must have each of their parents complete the parental section of the Need Access application. Any delay in filing beyond the end of February may affect the receipt of the processed applications by the School; applications received after April 1 will be considered late and therefore may not be eligible for the scholarship component of the award.
International Applicants

International students seeking financial aid are required to submit a special form, International Student Financial Aid Application, which may be downloaded at www.yale.edu/sfas/financial/0405ISFinAidApp.pdf. The School does not provide this form, and it must be returned directly to the Office of Financial Affairs, Yale School of Art, PO Box 208339, New Haven CT 06520-8339, by April 1, 2005. This is the deadline for any applicants seeking financial assistance from the School of Art. The parents and spouses of all international applicants must complete and sign this form and submit all required bank and tax data regardless of the applicant’s age.

Funds are not available to international students under the federally subsidized loan and job programs. Although some scholarship money may be available, the School cannot provide awards to assist its high-need international students to the full extent of their academic year expenses. Students may apply for private loans through www.acessgroup.org/ (302.477.4000).

The Andrea Frank Foundation Sanyu Scholarship Fund was established in June 1998 to provide support to students who are residents of, or who have immigrated to the United States from, mainland China or Taiwan and are matriculating in the Yale University School of Art Master of Fine Arts degree program. An award from this endowed fund — the amount to be determined by available resources in a given year — may be granted to eligible students who have applied for financial aid and who demonstrate financial need.

International students accepting admission to the School must submit, along with their acceptance of admission, the International Student Certification of Finances, which may be downloaded at www.yale.edu/sfas/financial/0405IsCertFin.pdf.

All Financial Aid Applicants

School of Art awards are based on financial need and the School’s resources; it is for this reason that students are urged to plan their finances for each year with the utmost care. Acceptees should be prepared to cover their anticipated need at the start of the program. The School cannot guarantee additional help once the financial aid award is determined.

A typical single student budget for the nine-month 2004–2005 academic year follows:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>$43,000 comprising</th>
<th>$23,700</th>
<th>Tuition</th>

STATEMENT ON SELECTIVE SERVICE REGISTRATION AND ANTI-DRUG ABUSE ACT CERTIFICATION

To receive Title IV funds (Stafford, Perkins, or Federal Work-Study [FWS]) a student must complete a Statement of Educational Purpose that either confirms that the individual has registered for Selective Service or states the reason why he or she is not required to do so. If required to do so, a student must be registered with Selective Service. If false information is purposely given on this form, the student may be subject to fine or imprisonment or both (20 U.S.C. 1091 and 50 U.S.C. App. 462). In addition, to receive Title IV funds a student must be willing to certify that his or her eligibility for aid is not currently suspended or terminated for a conviction for drug distribution or possession (section 5301 of P.L. 100-690).

VETERANS ADMINISTRATION BENEFITS

Eligible students are strongly encouraged to seek specific information about Veterans Administration Benefits from their local Veterans Administration office. The School of Art will be happy to assist students with claims once they are enrolled.

EMPLOYMENT

The Student Employment Office, 246 Church Street (http://www.yale.edu/seo/), assists self-supporting students in obtaining part-time employment within the University. Most work-study jobs are assigned by the School of Art, at the beginning of the term, for employment within the graduate art departments. Many students in the School obtain off-campus freelance or weekly part-time jobs.

ASSISTANTSHIPS

Appointments to teaching assistantships are made by the dean and faculty of the School of Art and are usually given only to second-year students. A student may not apply for an assistantship because all appointments are based on individual merit and performance qualifications and not on financial need. A U.S. Social Security number is required in order to be paid as a teaching assistant. Teaching assistantships may be for one or two terms and the gross monthly payments generally range between $300 and $500.
General Information

ACADEMIC REGULATIONS

Grading System

All courses within the School of Art are graded Pass (P) or Fail (F). Letter grades are given for most courses taken outside the School, either in Yale College, the Graduate School, or any of the other professional schools at the University. Credit will be given for any passing grade (A–D). No credit will be given for a grade of F or an incomplete. Arrangements to finish incompletes are to be determined between the student and his or her instructor. Any incomplete that is not made up by registration in the next consecutive term will be recorded as an F on the transcript. Certain outside courses may be elected under a Pass/Fail option (see the bulletin Yale College Programs of Study) whereby the registrar will interpret letter grades from them onto the transcript as Pass or Fail.

Course Changes

It is the student’s responsibility to maintain an accurate course schedule in the Office of Academic Affairs. Any change (drop or add) to the schedule agreed upon at registration should be reported immediately. No adding of courses will be permitted after the first two weeks of any term. A student may, with the consent of the director of academic affairs, drop a course until midterm. At this time, courses are permanently entered onto the transcript. From midterm until the last day of classes in each term, a student may withdraw from a course with the permission of the instructor of the course and the director of academic affairs. At the time the student withdraws, the notation of W (Withdrawn) will be entered onto the transcript. Course withdrawal forms may be obtained in the Office of Academic Affairs. Between the end of classes in each term and the beginning of the examination period, no student will be permitted to withdraw from any course. If the instructor of a course reports to the registrar that a student has not successfully completed a course from which the student has not formally withdrawn, a grade of F will be recorded in that course.

Progress Reports

Within one week following registration in any given term, students will be issued a copy of their course schedule that lists the courses for which they have registered. At the end of the academic year, each student will be issued a copy of his or her transcript indicating grades earned, which will serve as a progress report. Prior to issuance of this progress report, grades earned in the fall term will be available verbally on request.

Review and Awards

The M.F.A. degree is awarded by the University on the recommendation of the faculty of the School of Art. Each department in the School holds its own reviews of students’ work at regular intervals. At the end of each review, faculty may require a student to take a particular course or participate in a tutorial. This requirement supersedes the normal choice of electives. If the work under review is not considered by the faculty to be deserving of credit toward the degree, the student will receive a letter of academic warning. Students who have received such a warning will have until the end of the following term to demonstrate a satisfactory level of quality and effort in their work. If they fail to do this, they will not be invited back to complete the program. Disciplinary dismissal may take place at any time during the year for any student in the School. Exceptions to the regulations of the M.F.A. degree can be made only on the recommendation of the Academic Subcommittee, to which all applications on these matters must be addressed.

Commencement

Attendance is required at Commencement exercises for all M.F.A. candidates. Special permission to be excused must be obtained from the dean. In addition to the completion of degree requirements, satisfactory final review of the student's work, and a thesis exhibition, submission of the following is required in order to graduate:

- Graphic Design: Written Thesis
- Painting/Printmaking: Slide Portfolio
- Photography: Print Portfolio
- Sculpture: Slide Portfolio

All degree requirements must be completed within three years of the student's scheduled graduation date in order to obtain the M.F.A. degree. Those who are unable to meet this deadline and wish to pursue their degree further must reapply for this consideration and pay a reregistration fee, which is 10 percent of the current tuition rate.

Leave of Absence

After completion of at least one term, a student may be eligible to take a one- to three-year leave of absence for health or personal reasons (e.g., pregnancy). Any student who is contemplating a leave should see the director of academic affairs or his or her director of graduate studies to discuss the necessary application procedures. A written request must be submitted to the dean and, if the leave is approved by the dean, it will be for a specified period. A student who is on leave must notify the director of academic affairs in writing by February 1 of his or her intent to return. Student loans are not deferred during periods of nonenrollment; however, students on leave are eligible for health coverage and are responsible for obtaining this coverage. If a student does not return from a leave by the deadline designated by the dean, the student will automatically be terminated by the School.

Financial Aid and Grades

All students receiving any form of financial aid from the School of Art and the University (Federal Stafford loans, Federal Perkins loans, School of Art Work-Study jobs, scholarships) must maintain a satisfactory grade level in all courses and studio work. If in any course a student does not obtain a satisfactory grade level, the appropriate portion of loans and scholarships within the term will be canceled and no further aid will be allocated until there is proof of improvement and/or completion of course work.
GENERAL REGULATIONS

1. Students are expected to conform to the regulations established by the School of Art. The School of Art Handbook, which contains more detailed rules and regulations, will be given to each student upon registration.

2. It is expected that students will attend all classes regularly.

3. The School of Art reserves the right to require the withdrawal of any student whose educational development is unsatisfactory or whose conduct is deemed harmful to the School. Please refer to the policy on Student Grievances in the Bulletin & Calendar.

UNIVERSITY PRIVILEGES

A calendar listing the broad range of events at the University is issued weekly during the academic year in the Yale Bulletin & Calendar. The hours when special exhibitions and the University’s permanent collections are open to the public are also recorded in this publication. Free copies of the Yale Bulletin & Calendar are available at many locations throughout the campus, and the paper is sent via U.S. Mail to subscribers; for more information, call 203.432.1316. The paper is also available online at http://www.yale.edu/opa/ylb&c/.

The Yale Peabody Museum of Natural History contains collections in anthropology, mineralogy, oceanography, paleontology, and some aspects of geology.

There are more than eighty endowed lecture series held at Yale each year on subjects ranging from anatomy to theology, and including virtually all disciplines.

More than four hundred musical events take place at the University during the academic year. These include concerts presented by students and faculty of the School of Music, the Department of Music, the Yale Concert and Jazz bands, the Yale Glee Club, the Yale Symphony Orchestra, and other undergraduate singing and instrumental groups. In addition to graduate recitals and ensemble performances, the School of Music features the Philharmonia Orchestra of Yale, the Chamber Music Society at Yale, the Duke Ellington Series, the Horowitz Piano Series, Great Organ Music at Yale, New Music New Haven, Yale Opera performances and public master classes, and the Faculty Artist Series. Among New Haven’s numerous performing organizations are Orchestra New England, the New Haven Chorale, and the New Haven Symphony Orchestra.

For theatergoers, Yale and New Haven offer a wide range of dramatic productions at the University Theatre, Yale Repertory Theatre, Yale Cabaret, Long Wharf Theatre, Palace Theater, and Shubert Performing Arts Center.

Founded in 1971, the Graduate-Professional Student Senate (GPSS) fosters discussion and the exchange of ideas among the graduate and professional student population. All graduate and professional students are eligible to become senators. Senators are chosen each year by their respective schools. The GPSS meets every two weeks throughout the academic year, and meetings are open to the graduate and professional school community. Members serve on and make appointments to University committees, meet with University officials and Yale Corporation members, sponsor informational workshops and conferences, organize lectures and social events, and assist in community service events. Additionally, the GPSS oversees operation of the Graduate-Professional Student Center at Yale (GPSCY), at 203 York Street, which includes office and meeting spaces for graduate-professional student organizations, and the Gryphon’s Pub. For more information, please contact gpss@yale.edu or visit http://www.yale.edu/gpss/

The McDougal Graduate Student Center in the Hall of Graduate Studies provides space and resources for building intellectual, cultural, and social community among graduate students, and for enhancing professional development activities across the departments of the Graduate School. The Center houses the cooperating offices of Graduate Student Life, Graduate Career Services, and the Graduate Teaching Center, as well as the Resource Library. Graduate Career Services provides programs, counseling, and on-campus recruitment for academic and non-academic jobs. In the Student Life Office, McDougal Fellows, who are current graduate students, plan and organize socials; community service activities; arts, music, and cultural events; sports and wellness events; and more. The Graduate Teaching Center provides pedagogical workshops, videotape consultation, and teaching forums led by the GTC student consultants and the director. The McDougal Center welcomes the participation of postdoctoral fellows, faculty, staff, alumni of the Graduate School, students from other Yale professional schools, and members of the larger Yale community. The Center houses a large common room with a computer kiosk, wired and wireless Internet access, newspapers, and magazines, and the student-run Blue Dog Café, which serves coffee and light foods. Other resources include a large program room with AV equipment, a small meeting room, a recreation room with a children’s corner, and a public computer cluster with ITS laser printer and copier. The McDougal Center is open weekdays from 9 A.M. to 11 P.M. and weekends from 11 A.M. to 11 P.M. during the academic year. For more information or to sign up for weekly e-mail updates, visit the Web site at http://www.yale.edu/graduateschool/mcdougal/; telephone, 203.432.BLUE; e-mail, mcdougal.center@yale.edu.

The religious resources of Yale University serve all students, faculty, and staff. These resources are the University Chaplaincy (located on the lower level of Bingham Hall on Old Campus); the Church of Christ in Yale University, an open and affirming member congregation of the United Church of Christ; and Yale Religious Ministry, the on-campus association of clergy and nonordained representatives of various religious faiths. The ministry includes the Chapel of St. Thomas More, the parish church for all Roman Catholic students at the University; the Joseph Slifka Center for Jewish Life at Yale, a religious and cultural center for students of the Jewish faith; Indigo Blue: A Center for Buddhist Life at Yale; several Protestant denominational ministries and nondenominational ministries; and religious groups such as the Baha’i Association, the New Haven Zen Center, the Yale Vedanta Society and Yale Hindu Council, and the Muslim Student Association. Additional information is available at http://www.yale.edu/chaplain/.

The Payne Whitney Gymnasium is one of the most elaborate and extensive indoor athletic facilities in the world. This complex includes the 3,100-seat John J. Lee Amphitheater, the site for many indoor varsity sports contests; the Robert J. H. Kiphuth Exhibition Pool; the Brady Squash Center, a world-class facility with fifteen international-style courts; the Adrian C. Israel Fitness Center, a state-of-the-art exercise and weight-training complex; the Brooks-Dwyer Varsity Strength and Conditioning Center; the Colonel William K. Lanman, Jr. Center, a 30,000-square-foot space for recreational/intramural play and varsity team practice; the Greenberg Brothers Track, an eighth-mile indoor jogging track; and other rooms devoted to fencing, gymnastics, rowing, wrestling, martial arts, general exercise, and dance. Numerous physical education classes in dance, martial arts, aerobic exercise, and sport skills are offered throughout the year.
Graduate and professional school students may use the gym at no charge during the academic year and for a nominal fee during the summer term. Academic and summer memberships at reasonable fees are available for faculty, employees, postdoctoral and visiting fellows, and student spouses.

The David S. Ingalls Rink, the Sailing Center in Branford, the Outdoor Education Center (OEC), the tennis courts, and the golf course are open to faculty, students, and employees of the University at established fees. Ingalls Rink has public skating Monday through Thursday from 11:30 A.M. to 12:45 P.M. and on weekends as the training schedule permits. Up-to-date information on hours is available at 203.432.0875. Skate sharpening is available daily; however, skate rentals are not available.

Approximately thirty-five club sports and outdoor activities come under the jurisdiction of the Office of Outdoor Education and Club Sports. Many of the activities, both purely recreational and instructional, are open to graduate and professional school students. Faculty, staff, and alumni, as well as groups, may use the Outdoor Education Center (OEC). The center consists of two thousand acres in East Lyme, Connecticut, and includes cabins, campsites, pavilion, dining hall, swimming, boating, canoeing, and picnic groves beside a mile-long lake. Hiking trails surround a wildlife marsh. The OEC season extends from the third weekend in June through Labor Day and September weekends. For more information, telephone 203.432.2492 or visit the Web page at http://yalebulldogs.ocsn.com/ (click on Sports Rec, then on Outdoor Education).

Throughout the year, Yale University graduate and professional school students have the opportunity to participate in numerous intramural sports activities. These seasonal, team-oriented activities include volleyball, soccer, and softball in the fall; basketball and volleyball in the winter; softball, soccer, and volleyball in the spring; and softball in the summer. With few exceptions, all academic-year graduate-professional student sports activities are scheduled on weekends, and most sports activities are open to competitive, recreational, and coeducational teams. More information is available from the Intramurals Office in Payne Whitney Gymnasium, 203.432.2487, or online at http:// yalebulldogs.ocsn.com/.

HEALTH SERVICES FOR SCHOOL OF ART STUDENTS

Yale University Health Services (YUHS) is located on campus at 17 Hillhouse Avenue.
YUHS offers a wide variety of health care services for students and other members of the Yale community. Services include student medicine, gynecology, mental health, pediatries, pharmacy, laboratory, radiology, a twenty-three-bed inpatient care facility (ICF), a round-the-clock urgent care clinic, and such specialty services as allergy, dermatology, orthopedics, and a travel clinic. YUHS also includes the Yale Health Plan (YHP), a health coverage option that coordinates and provides payment for the services outlined above, as well as for emergency treatment, off-site specialty services, inpatient hospital care, and other ancillary services. YUHS’s services are detailed in the YHP Student Handbook, available through the YHP Member Services Department, 203.432.0246, or on the YHP Website at http://www.yale.edu/uhs/.

Eligibility for Services

All full-time Yale degree-candidate students who are paying at least half tuition are enrolled automatically for YHP Basic Coverage. YHP Basic Coverage is offered at no charge and includes preventive health and medical services in the departments of Student Medicine, Internal Medicine, Gynecology, Health Education, and Mental Hygiene. In addition, treatment for urgent medical problems can be obtained twenty-four hours a day through Urgent Care.

Students on leave of absence or on extended study and paying less than half tuition are not eligible for YHP Basic Coverage but may enroll in YHP Student Affiliate Coverage. Students enrolled in the Division of Special Registration as nondegree special students or visiting scholars are not eligible for YHP Basic Coverage but may enroll in the YHP Billed Associates Plan and pay a monthly premium. Associates must enroll for a minimum of one term within the first thirty days of affiliation with the University.

Students not eligible for YHP Basic Coverage may also use the services on a fee-for-service basis. Students who wish to be seen fee-for-service must enroll with the YHP Member Services Department. Enrollment applications for the YHP Student Affiliate Coverage, Billed Associates Plan, or Fee-for-Service Program are available from the YHP Member Services Department.

All students are welcome to use specialty and ancillary services at YUHS. Upon referral, YHP will cover the cost of these services if the student is a member of YHP Hospitalization/Specialty Care Coverage (see below). If the student has an alternate insurance plan, YHP will assist in submitting the claims for specialty and ancillary services to the other plan and will bill through the Office of Student Financial Services for noncovered charges and services.

Health Coverage Enrollment

The University also requires all students eligible for YHP Basic Coverage to have adequate hospital insurance coverage. Students may choose YHP Hospitalization/Specialty Coverage or elect to waive the plan if they have other hospitalization coverage, such as coverage through a spouse or parent. The waiver must be renewed annually, and it is the student’s responsibility to confirm receipt of the waiver form by the University’s deadlines noted below.

YHP Hospitalization/Specialty Coverage

Students are automatically enrolled and charged a fee each term on their Student Financial Services bill for YHP Hospitalization/Specialty Coverage. Students with no break in coverage who are enrolled during both the fall and spring terms are billed each term and are covered from September 1 through August 31. For students entering Yale for the first time, readmitted students, and students returning from a leave of absence who have not been covered during their leave, YHP Hospitalization/Specialty Coverage begins on the day the dormitories officially open. A student who is enrolled for the fall term only is covered for services through January 31; a student enrolled for the spring term only is covered for services through August 31.

For a detailed explanation of this plan, see the YHP Student Handbook.

Waiving the YHP Hospitalization/Specialty Coverage: Students are permitted to waive YHP Hospitalization/Specialty Coverage by completing a waiver form that demonstrates proof of alternate coverage. Waiver forms are available from the YHP Member Services Department. It is the student’s responsibility to report any changes in alternate insurance coverage to the YHP Member Services Department. Students are encouraged to review their present coverage and compare its benefits to those available under the YHP. The waiver form must be filed annually and must be received by September 15 for the full year or fall term or by January 31 for the spring term only.

Revoking the Waiver: Students who waive YHP Hospitalization/Specialty Coverage but later wish to be covered must complete and send a form voiding their waiver to the YHP Member Services Department by September 15 for the full year or fall term, or by January 31 for the spring term only. Students who wish to revoke their waiver during the term may do so, provided they show proof of loss of the alternate insurance plan and enroll within thirty days of the loss of this coverage. YHP premiums will not be prorated.

YHP Student Two-Person and Family Plans
A student may enroll his or her lawfully married spouse or same-sex domestic partner and/or legally dependent child(ren) under the age of nineteen in one of two student dependent plans: the Two-Person Plan or the Student Family Plan. These plans include coverage for YHP Basic Coverage and for coverage under YHP Hospitalization/Specialty Coverage. YHP Prescription Plus Coverage may be added at an additional cost.

Coverage is not automatic and enrollment is by application. Applications are available from the YHP Member Services Department or can be downloaded from the YUHS Web site (http://www.yale.edu/uhs/) and must be renewed annually. Applications must be received by September 15 for full-year or fall-term coverage, or by January 31 for spring-term coverage only.

YHP Student Affiliate Coverage
Students on leave of absence or extended study or students paying less than half tuition may enroll in YHP Student Affiliate Coverage, which includes coverage for YHP Basic and for the benefits offered under YHP Hospitalization/Specialty Coverage. Prescription Plus Coverage may also be added for an additional cost. Applications are available from the YHP Member Services Department or can be downloaded from the YUHS Web site (http://www.yale.edu/uhs/) and must be received by September 15 for full-year or fall-term coverage, or by January 31 for spring-term coverage only.
YHP PRESCRIPTION PLUS COVERAGE

This plan has been designed for Yale students who purchase YHP Hospitalization/Specialty Coverage and student dependents who are enrolled in either the Two-Person Plan, the Student Family Plan, or Student Affiliate Coverage. YHP Prescription Plus Coverage provides protection for some types of medical expenses not covered under YHP Hospitalization/Specialty Coverage. Students are billed for this plan and may waive this coverage. The waiver form must be filed annually and must be received by September 15 for the full year or fall term or by January 31 for the spring term only. For a detailed explanation, please refer to the YHP Student Handbook.

Eligibility Changes

Withdrawal: A student who withdraws from the University during the first ten days of the term will be refunded the premium paid for YHP Hospitalization/Specialty Coverage and/or YHP Prescription Plus Coverage. The student will not be eligible for any YHP benefits, and the student’s YHP membership will be terminated retroactive to the beginning of the term. The medical record will be reviewed, and any services rendered and/or claims paid will be billed to the student on a fee-for-service basis. At all other times, a student who withdraws from the University will be covered by YHP for thirty days following the date of withdrawal or to the last day of the term, whichever comes first. Premiums will not be prorated. Students who withdraw are not eligible to enroll in YHP Student Affiliate Coverage.

Leaves of Absence: Students who are granted leaves of absence are eligible to purchase YHP Student Affiliate Coverage during the term(s) of the leave. If the leave occurs during the term, YHP Hospitalization/Specialty Coverage will end on the date the leave is granted and students may enroll in YHP Student Affiliate Coverage. Students must enroll in Affiliate Coverage prior to the beginning of the term during which the leave is taken or within thirty days of the start of the leave. Coverage is not automatic and enrollment forms are available at the YHP Member Services Department or can be downloaded from the YUHS Web site (http://www.yale.edu/uhs/).

Extended Study or Reduced Tuition: Students who are granted extended study status or pay less than half tuition are not eligible for YHP Hospitalization/Specialty Coverage and YHP Prescription Plus Coverage. They may purchase YHP Student Affiliate Coverage during the term(s) of extended study. This plan includes coverage for YHP Basic and for the benefits offered under YHP Hospitalization/Specialty Coverage. Coverage is not automatic and enrollment forms are available at the YHP Member Services Department or can be downloaded from the YUHS Web site (http://www.yale.edu/uhs/). Students must complete an enrollment application for the plan prior to the start of the term.

For a full description of the services and benefits provided by YHP, please refer to the YHP Student Handbook, available from the YHP Member Services Department, 203.432.0246, 17 Hillhouse Avenue, PO Box 208237, New Haven CT 06520-8237.
Required Immunizations

Measles (Rubella) and German Measles: All students who were born after December 31, 1956, are required to provide proof of immunization against measles (rubella) and German measles (rubella). Connecticut state law requires two doses of measles vaccine. The first dose must have been given after January 1, 1969, and after the student’s first birthday. The second dose must have been given after January 1, 1980. These doses must be at least 30 days apart. Connecticut state law requires proof of one dose of rubella vaccine administered after January 1, 1969, and after the student’s first birthday. The law applies to all students unless they present (a) a certificate from a physician stating that such immunization is contraindicated, (b) a statement that such immunization would be contrary to the student’s religious beliefs, or (c) documentation of a positive blood titer for measles and rubella.

Meningococcus (Meningitis): All students living in on-campus housing must be vaccinated against Meningococcal disease. The law went into effect in September 2002, meaning that all returning students who plan to live in University housing must be immunized or show proof of immunization within the last five years. Students who are not compliant with this law will not be permitted to register for classes or move into the dormitories for the fall term, 2004. Please note that the State of Connecticut does not require this vaccine for students who intend to reside off campus.

Students who have not met these requirements prior to arrival at Yale University must receive the immunizations from YHP and will be charged accordingly.

RESOURCE OFFICE ON DISABILITIES

The Resource Office on Disabilities facilitates accommodations for undergraduate and graduate and professional school students with disabilities who register with and have appropriate documentation on file in the Resource Office. Early planning is critical. Documentation may be submitted to the Resource Office even though a specific accommodation request is not anticipated at the time of registration. It is recommended that matriculating students in need of disability-related accommodations at Yale University contact the Resource Office by June 1. Returning students must contact the Resource Office at the beginning of each term to arrange for course and exam accommodations.

The Resource Office also provides assistance to students with temporary disabilities. General informational inquiries are welcome from students and members of the Yale community and from the public. The mailing address is Resource Office on Disabilities, Yale University, PO Box 208305, New Haven CT 06520-8305. The Resource Office is located in William L. Harkness Hall (WLH), Rooms 102 and 103. Access to the Resource Office is through the College Street entrance to WLH. Office hours are Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Voice callers may reach staff at 203.432.2324; TTY/TDD callers at 203.432.8250. The Resource Office may also be reached by e-mail (judith.york@yale.edu) or through its Web site (http://www.yale.edu/rod/).
PLACEMENT

The School of Art maintains a placement service in the Office of Academic Affairs. Job notices are collected through faculty contacts and mailings and posted in a Job Book. Subscriptions are held to the College Art Association publications, Current Jobs in Art, Jobline, National Arts Jobbank, National Arts Placement, Sculptors International, and Society for Photographic Education Newsletter. Information on grants and fellowships is also maintained. The above resources are available to our current students, alumni, and artists in the community. At the student’s request, the Office of Academic Affairs will maintain and send references and/or transcripts to prospective employers for a mailing fee. This service is free for all currently enrolled students.

OFFICE OF INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS AND SCHOLARS

The Office of International Students and Scholars (OISS) coordinates services and support to Yale’s international students, faculty, staff, and their dependents. OISS assists members of the Yale international community with all matters of special concern to them and serves as a source of referral to other university offices and departments. OISS staff provide assistance with employment, immigration, personal and cultural adjustment, and family and financial matters, as well as serve as a source of general information about living at Yale and in New Haven. In addition, as Yale University’s representative for immigration concerns, OISS provides information and assistance to students, staff, and faculty on how to obtain and maintain legal status in the United States. OISS issues the visa documents needed to request entry into the United States under Yale’s immigration sponsorship and processes requests for extensions of authorized periods of stay in the United States, school transfers, and employment authorization. All international students and scholars must register with OISS as soon as they arrive at Yale, at which time OISS will provide information about orientation activities for newly arrived students, scholars, and family members. OISS programs, like the monthly international coffee hours, daily English conversation programs, and orientation receptions for newly arrived graduate students and postdocs, provide an opportunity to meet members of Yale’s international community and become acquainted with the many resources of Yale University and New Haven.

OISS maintains an extensive Web site (http://www.oiss.yale.edu/) with useful information for students and scholars prior to and upon arrival in New Haven. As U.S. immigration regulations are complex and change rather frequently, we urge international students and scholars to visit the office and check the Web site for the most recent updates. International graduate students, postdocs, and visiting scholars can get connected with OISS by subscribing to one or both of the OISS e-mail lists. OISS-L is the electronic newsletter with important information for Yale’s international community. YaleInternational E-Group is an interactive list through which over 1,000 international students and scholars keep each other informed about events in the area. Check the Web site for more information. To subscribe to either list, send a message to oiss@yale.edu.
Spouses and partners of international students and scholars will want to know about ISPY — International Spouses and Partners at Yale. Information about ISPY and other OISS programs can be found on the OISS Web site. The Office of International Students and Scholars, located at 246 Church Street, Suite 201, is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., except Tuesday, when the office is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Other guidelines for international students are found on pages 46–47 and 53.

THE INTERNATIONAL CENTER

Established in 1949, the International Center of New Haven is a nonprofit community-based organization. The Center’s programs are based on the idea that both the international community in Greater New Haven and the local community can benefit from each other. The Center is located at 442 Temple Street, and the office is open from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. The work of the International Center is carried out by a small professional staff and by many volunteers in the community. The Center organizes lectures and special events, as well as offering English as a Second Language (ESL) classes, in addition to a number of programs including the International Community Friendship Program, ‘Round The World Women, and the International Classroom Project. The International House, a large Tudor mansion located at 406 Prospect Street in New Haven, is the venue of most of the International Center’s activities and the home of fifteen students and scholars. Rooms are available for the academic year and summer. For more information on any of these programs, or on the International House, telephone 203.432.6460, fax 203.432.6462, e-mail info@icnh.org, or visit the Web site at http://www.icnh.org/.
Yale University Summer School of Music and Art

NORFOLK, CONNECTICUT

May 22 – July 3, 2005

The art division offers a six-week session for academic credit as a special summer program. The School is located on the Stoeckel estate and is supported by the Ellen Battell Stoeckel Trust.

Through the generosity of this trust, the full expenses of tuition, room, and board are covered by a fellowship grant to each student approved for admission. Selected colleges, universities, and professional art schools across the country and abroad are invited to nominate for these fellowships two candidates who are currently enrolled as juniors in their programs. There is an application fee of $20 and a registration fee of $700.

Students in art follow a required program of painting, drawing, printmaking, and photography.

Distinguished artists are on both the resident and the visiting faculty. The visiting faculty provide workshops, lectures, and individual criticism. The resident faculty in 2004 included Jake Berthot, David Hilliard, Sam Messer (Director), Laura Owens, and Norm Paris.

Information about the program may be obtained in late January from the schools that have been invited to participate. The application deadline is in March. Persons interested in being considered for nomination should so inform their department heads. Individuals may not apply directly to the Norfolk program.
Summer Courses in Art

NEW HAVEN, CONNECTICUT

July 4–August 5, 2005

The Yale School of Art participates in the Yale Summer Programs by offering five-week courses in drawing, graphic design, photography, sculpture, silkscreen, and painting. Yale Summer Programs offers undergraduate courses for credit and awards three term-hours’ credit for each course successfully completed. Classes are held two or three times a week on campus, with additional studio time available. Admission is not limited to Yale students but is open also to undergraduates who wish to study in an environment different from that of their home institution, to college graduates who wish to explore other fields of study, and to qualified high school or precollege students who will be sixteen by July 1 and who will have completed their junior year of high school before summer classes begin.

Further information on residency, scholarships, and application forms may be found on the Yale Summer Programs Web site at http://www.yale.edu/summer/ or obtained by mail from Yale Summer Programs, PO Box 208355, New Haven CT 06520-8355, or via telephone at 203.432.2430. Applications are considered as they are received, with a decision concerning admission following shortly thereafter. Class size for each art course is limited depending upon the nature of the course. There is an application fee of $50. Tuition is $1,800–2,000 per course. All students must submit applications and application fees by June 13 and must pay tuition and any housing fees in full by June 20. No portfolio is required for application.

Faculty Profiles

Greer Allen, Graphic Designer. As a student at Yale, Mr. Allen worked closely with the university printer, Carl Purington Rollins. He then served as designer and typographer at the University of Chicago Press before becoming director of its printing department in 1965. From 1972 through 1983, he was the university printer at Yale and has lectured in the graphic design program since 1981. Mr. Allen’s work includes catalogues for Yale’s museums and libraries, the Art Institute of Chicago, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, Colonial Williamsburg, the Houghton Library, and the Philadelphia Museum of Art. He is currently senior critic.

Jonathan Andrews, Filmmaker. Mr. Andrews received his B.A. in film studies from Yale in 1996. His first film, The Night Tram, was produced during a semester abroad at FAMU, the national film academy of the Czech Republic, and was nominated for a Student Academy Award in 1995. His senior project film, Short Change, won the Louis Sudler Prize in the Performing and Creative Arts and received a Student Academy Award in 1996. In 2001 Mr. Andrews wrote, produced, and directed Pursuing Happiness, a feature-length digital motion picture set in small-town Vermont. Mr. Andrews was appointed lecturer in 2003.

Dore Ashton, Author and Critic. Ms. Ashton received an M.A. from Harvard University. She is among the world’s most authoritative critics of modern and contemporary art. She is the author or editor of thirty books on art and culture, including Noguchi East and West, About Rothko, American Art Since 1945, Rosa Bonheur in Her Time (with Denise Browne Hare), A Fable of Modern Art, Yes, But: A Critical Study of Philip Guston, A Joseph Cornell Album, The New York School: A Cultural Reckoning, Picasso On Art, The Sculpture of Pol Bury, Richard Lindner; A Reading of Modern Art, Modern American Sculpture, Ruschenberg’s Dante, The Unknown Shore, Redon, Bresdin, Philip Guston, Poets and the Past, Abstract Art Before Columbus, and David Smith: Medals for Dishonor. She is a member of the International Jury of the Florence Biennale and has won many awards and recognitions, including Guggenheim Foundation Fellowships in 1963 and 1969. Ms. Ashton is professor of art history at the Cooper Union in New York and was appointed senior critic in painting at Yale in 2002.

Frances Barth, Painter. Ms. Barth studied at Hunter College, where she received her B.F.A. and M.A. in painting. She has exhibited widely in both solo and group exhibitions, and her work is represented in numerous corporate and public collections, including those of the Museum of Modern Art, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Whitney Museum of American Art, and the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts. Early in her career, she performed with Yvonne Rainer and Joan Jonas in New York City. Her awards include National Endowment for the Arts grants in 1974 and 1982, a Guggenheim Fellowship in 1977, and the Joan Mitchell Foundation grant in 1995. Ms. Barth has also taught at Lehman College, Bennington College, Princeton University, and Sarah Lawrence College. She was appointed to the Yale faculty in 1986 and in 2001 was appointed professor (adjunct).

Richard Benson, Photographer. Since 1966 Richard Benson has worked as a photographer/printer. In 1997 he coauthored A Maritime Album, 100 Photographs and Their Stories, and in 1972 he coauthored Lay this Laurel, an album of photographs of the Augustus Saint-Gaudens Memorial to Robert Gould Shaw. He has photographed extensively in Puerto Rico and Newport, Rhode Island, since 1970. His photographic work, as well as extensive research in the hand printing of photographs in ink in both photogravure and photo offset lithography, has been supported by the John Simon Guggenheim Foundation, the National Endowment for the Arts, and the Eakins Press Foundation. In 1986 he was awarded a MacArthur Foundation Fellowship. For the past ten years, much of Mr. Benson’s time has been devoted to the production of fine photographic books, including The Face of Lincoln, Viking Press; The Work of Atget, vols. I, II, III, the Museum of Modern Art; and The American Monument, photographs by Lee Friedlander. His work is represented in the collection of the Museum of Modern Art as well as in numerous private collections. Mr. Benson has taught at Yale since 1979 and was appointed dean of the School in 1996.

Michael Bierut, Graphic Designer. Michael Bierut studied graphic design at the University of Cincinnati’s College of Design, Architecture, Art, and Planning. Prior to joining Pentagram as a partner in 1990, he was vice president of graphic design at Vignelli Associates. His clients at Pentagram have included the Council of Fashion Designers of America, Disney Development Company, Brooklyn Academy of Music, Harley Davidson, Princeton University, and American Ballet Theatre. His work is represented in the permanent collections of the Museum of Modern Art and the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York and the Musée des Arts Décoratifs in Montreal. He has served as president of the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Graphic Arts (AIGA), as a director of the American Center for Design, and as a panelist for the Architecture, Design and Planning Division of the New York State Council on the Arts. He was appointed lecturer in graphic design at Yale in 1993 and is currently senior critic.

Mel Bochner, Artist. Mr. Bochner studied at Carnegie Institute of Technology where he received his B.F.A in 1962. Since 1964 he has lived and worked in New York City. He has exhibited widely in the United States and Europe and his work is represented in the Museum of Modern Art, the Whitney Museum of American Art, and the Musée National d’Art Moderne in Paris, France. Mr. Bochner has also taught at the School of Visual Arts in New York. He was appointed to the Yale faculty in 1979 as senior critic in painting and in 2001 was appointed professor (adjunct).

Irma Boom, Graphic Designer. Ms. Boom received her degree at the AKI Art School in Enschedé, Holland. For five years, she worked as a senior designer for the Government Printing & Publishing Office in The Hague. She established Irma Boom Office in 1991. Her clients include Ferrari, Prince Claus Fund, Vitra, SHV, OMA/Rem Koolhaas, and Rijksmuseum, Amsterdam. The focus of her work is on book design, for which she has received many awards including the Gutenberg Prize 2001. She has taught at the Arnhem Academy (Fashion Dept.), the Jan van Eyck Akademie in Maastricht, the Rhode Island School of Design, the Art Institute of Chicago, the California Institute of the Arts, and Mimar Sinan University, Istanbul. Her work has been published in I.D. and Eye magazine and exhibited in the United States, Germany, England, France, Turkey, South Korea, and the Netherlands. The University of Amsterdam owns the Irma Boom Collection. She was appointed to the Yale faculty in 1992 and is currently senior critic in graphic design.

Matthew Carter, Type Designer. Mr. Carter began his career by studying punch cutting at the Enschedé printing house in Holland. After working as a lettering designer in London, he moved to New York City in 1965 to join the Mergenthaler Linotype Company as staff type designer. There he designed several typefaces including Cascade, Snell Roundhand, Helvetica Compressed, and Olympian, and faces for the Greek and Korean scripts. In 1971 Mr. Carter returned to London to work in continued association with the Linotype companies on faces for Hebrew and Devanagari, and on ITC Galliard, a series of classical romans and italics in four weights released in 1982. He designed Bell Centennial, the typeface currently used for telephone directories. He worked for ten years at Bitstream, Inc., the digital typefoundry of which he was one of the founders, where he designed Bitstream Charter. He is now a principal of Carter & Cone Type, Inc., in Cambridge, Massachusetts, a company that produces new typeface designs. Mr. Carter is a Royal Designer for Industry. He has received a Chrysler Award for Innovation in Design and medals from AIGA and the Type Directors Club. He has been senior critic at Yale since 1976.

Bonnie Collura, Sculptor. Ms. Collura received her B.F.A. from Virginia Commonwealth University in 1994 and her M.F.A. from Yale University in 1996. She has recently been featured in solo exhibitions at the Dallas Museum of Art, Basilico Fine Arts, Lehmann Maupin Gallery in New York, the Walker Art Center in Minneapolis, and the Aldrich Museum of Contemporary Art in Ridgefield, Connecticut. In 1999 she received the Emerging Artist Award from the Aldrich Museum of Contemporary Art. She is currently working in collaboration with Virginia Commonwealth University on The Prince Project. Her work was included at the Institute of Contemporary Art in Philadelphia in the show Intricacy, curated by Greg Lynn, and in a solo exhibition with Susan Inglett for fall 2003 titled Rebel Angel. Ms. Collura was appointed lecturer in sculpture in 2003.

Gregory Crewdson, Photographer. Mr. Crewdson received a B.A. from the State University of New York at Purchase in 1985 and an M.F.A. in photography from Yale in 1988. He has exhibited widely in the United States and Europe and is represented by Luhring Augustine Gallery in New York City. Mr. Crewdson’s work is represented in many public collections including the Museum of Modern Art, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Whitney Museum of American Art, the Brooklyn Museum, the Los Angeles County Museum, and the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art. He has received numerous awards including the Skowhegan Medal for Photography, the National Endowment for the Arts Visual Artists Fellowship, and the Aaron Siskind Fellowship. Mr. Crewdson has published several books of his photographs including _bower_ with ArtSpace Books, _Dream of Life_ with the University of Salamanca, Spain, and _Twilight_ with Harry N. Abrams Books. As a teacher, Mr. Crewdson has held positions at Sarah Lawrence College, Cooper Union School of Art, the School of Visual Arts, the State University of New York at Purchase, and Vassar. He was appointed to the Yale faculty in 1993 and is currently professor (adjunct) of photography.

Sheila Levrant de Bretteville, Graphic Designer and Public Artist. Ms. de Bretteville received a B.A. in art history from Barnard College in 1962, an M.F.A. from Yale in 1964, and honorary degrees from California College of Arts and Crafts and Moore College of Art. She has designed numerous publications on art and culture, including _The Photographs of Dorothy Norman_ and _The Motown Album_, as well as public art works: _Biddy Mason: Time and Place, Omoide no Shotokyo_ in Los Angeles, _Search: Literature in Flushing, New York, At the start...At long last..._ in New York City’s Inwood “A” train station, and _Path of Stars_ in New Haven. Her work in books, magazines, and newspapers includes the redesign of the _Los Angeles Times_, special issues of the _Aspen Times, Everywoman, American Cinematographer_, and _Arts in Society_. Her posters and fine press editions are in the special collections of the Museum of Modern Art, the Victoria and Albert Museum in London, and numerous university and public libraries. In 1971, at the California Institute of the Arts, she created the first women’s design program and, in 1973, founded the Woman’s Building and its Women’s Graphic Center in Los Angeles. In 1981, she initiated and chaired the Department of Communication Design at Otis/Parsons. Ms. de Bretteville joined the Yale faculty in 1990, when she was named professor and director of graduate studies in graphic design.

Philip-Lorca diCorcia, Photographer. After attending the School of the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, Mr. diCorcia went on to get an M.F.A. from Yale in 1979. He has since worked in various aspects of the photographic medium, for which he has earned exhibitions, grants, fellowships, and awards. He is represented by numerous galleries. In 1995 the Museum of Modern Art published a book surveying his work, and other publications have followed. Twin Palms published _A Storybook Life_ in 2003, his first self-produced book, which will tour as an exhibition through 2005. Mr. diCorcia has been a critic in photography at Yale at various times since 1996 and is currently senior critic.

Carroll Dunham, Painter. Mr. Dunham received his B.A. from Trinity College in 1972. His work has been exhibited widely in the U.S., Europe, and Japan and is included in the collections of the Whitney Museum of American Art, the Museum of Modern Art, as well as numerous public and private collections. Mr. Dunham is represented in New York by Metro Pictures and Nolan/Eckman Gallery. A mid-career survey exhibition of his work was held at the New Museum, New York, in 2002–2003. He was appointed senior critic in painting in 2001.

Chris Edwards, Interaction Designer. Mr. Edwards holds a B.F.A. in graphic design from the University of Michigan and a Master of Design in human-centered communication design from the Institute of Design (IIT), in 1994. Mr. Edwards’s graduate work focused on the impact of computer-network technologies on publishing and the use of design methodologies such as rapid prototyping, behavioral analysis, and usability studies to aid in the design of complex systems. His work has been featured in publications such as I.D., Wired, Communication Arts, How, and Print. Formerly vice president of design for Art Technology Group (ATG), Mr. Edwards is currently a design and technology consultant. He teaches at the Institute of Design (IIT) and has lectured at the Rhode Island School of Design. He serves on the board of the Institute of Design (IIT) and has spoken widely on design for organizations such as the American Center for Design (ACD), AIGA, Seybold, MIT Media Lab, and the Art Institute of Boston. He was appointed to the Yale faculty in 1996 and is currently critic in graphic design.

Paul Elliman, Graphic Designer. Mr. Elliman is a London-based designer whose work and writing both explore an interest in the rough material edges of language and technology. His work has been exhibited at the Tate Modern in London and included in collections by the British Council and at the Cooper-Hewitt National Design Museum in New York; his work has also appeared in a number of books and magazine articles. Mr. Elliman has contributed essays to Eye magazine, London, and IDEA magazine, Tokyo, and he has taught at Central Saint Martins, London, the University of Texas in Austin, the Royal Institute of Technology in Melbourne, and the Jan van Eyck Akademie in Maastricht. He runs a studio in London and is currently teaching the thesis course at Werkplaats Typografie in the Netherlands. Mr. Elliman was originally appointed to the Yale faculty in 1997 and is currently critic in graphic design.

Rochelle Feinstein, Painter and Printmaker. Ms. Feinstein received a B.F.A. from Pratt Institute in 1975 and an M.F.A. from the University of Minnesota in 1978. She lives and works in New York City. Her work has been exhibited widely in solo and group exhibitions in galleries and museums in the United States and Europe, and is included in numerous public and private collections. Among recent awards and grants she has received are a Guggenheim Fellowship, a Louis Comfort Tiffany Foundation Fellowship, a Joan Mitchell Foundation grant, and a Foundation for Contemporary Performing Arts grant. She taught at Bennington College until 1994, when she was appointed to the Yale faculty. She is currently professor of painting/printmaking.

Tobias Frere-Jones, Type Designer. Mr. Frere-Jones received his B.F.A. from Rhode Island School of Design in 1992. In 2000 he began work with Jonathan Hoefler in New York. He has designed over 150 typefaces for retail publication, custom clients, and experimental purposes. His clients include Martha Stewart Living, AIGA Journal, The Boston Globe, The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, the Cooper-Hewitt National Design Museum, the Whitney Museum of American Art, Grand Central Terminal, the U.S. Census Bureau, Tibor Kalman, and Neville Brody. He has lectured at the Rhode Island School of Design, the Yale School of Art, the Pratt Institute, the Royal College of Art, and the Universidad de las Americas. His work has been featured in How, I.D., Page, Print, Metropolis, and Time. He was appointed critic in graphic design in 1996.

Susan Froetschel, Writer. Ms. Froetschel received a B.A. in journalism from Pennsylvania State University and an M.P.A. from Harvard University’s John F. Kennedy School of Government. She worked as a copy editor for Self, Esquire, and House Beautiful magazines and as a newspaper reporter in Alaska and New Jersey. She is now a freelance writer, and her articles have been published by Connecticut magazine, Alaska magazine, The New York Times, Barron’s, and other business publications. Ms. Froetschel’s novel Alaska Gray was published by St. Martin’s Press in 1994, and her second novel, Interruptions, will be published by Five Star Press in 2004. She was appointed lecturer in graphic design in 2000.

Coco Fusco, Interdisciplinary Artist and Writer. Ms. Fusco has performed, lectured, exhibited, and curated throughout North and South America, Europe, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Korea, and Japan. She is the author of English is Broken Here (The New Press, 1995) and The Bodies That Were Not Ours and Other Writings (Routledge/inIVA, 2001) and the editor of Corpus Delecti: Performance Art of the Americas (Routledge, 1999) and Only Skin Deep: Changing Visions of the American Self (Abrams, 2003). Her writings have also appeared in a wide variety of publications, including The Village Voice, The Los Angeles Times, Art in America, The Nation, Ms., Frieze, Third Text, and Nka: Journal of African Art, as well as a number of anthologies. Ms. Fusco’s performances and videos have been included in such events as the Whitney Biennial, the Sydney Biennale, the Johannesburg Biennial, the Kwangju Biennale, the London International Theatre Festival, and the National Review of Live Art. Her 1993 documentary about her caged Amerindian performance with Guillermo Gómez-Peña, The Couple in the Cage, has been screened in over 200 venues around the world. She recently curated a comprehensive exhibition on racial taxonomy in American photography for the International Center for Photography, Only Skin Deep: Changing Visions of the American Self, which will tour through 2005. Her new play, “The Incredible Disappearing Woman,” premiered in Berlin in June 2003 and has toured to London, Portland, and Serbia. Her video Els Segadors, commissioned by the Museum Boijmans Van Beuningen in Rotterdam in 2001, was featured in the ICP’s first Triennial in 2003. Her latest video installation, Dolores from 10 to 10, received an honorable mention from the 2003 Transmediale in Berlin. Ms. Fusco is the co-founder and co-moderator of Undercurrents, an online discussion about feminism, new technologies, and globalization. She is associate professor in the Visual Arts Division of Columbia University’s School of the Arts and was appointed to the sculpture faculty at Yale in 2004 as visiting associate professor.

John Gambell, Graphic Designer. Mr. Gambell received a B.A. in English from Middlebury College in 1971. From 1977 to 1979 he studied printmaking and graphic design at Wesleyan University and worked on a range of photographic printing projects under the direction of Richard Benson in Newport, Rhode Island. After receiving his M.F.A. from Yale in 1981, he served as graphic designer at the Yale University Printing Service. In 1987 he established a design studio in New Haven that produced a range of print publications and museum exhibition catalogues, as well as signage and packaging. He has been teaching graphic design since 1983 and was appointed senior critic in 1998. Mr. Gambell is the Yale University Printer.

Barbara Glauber, Graphic Designer. Ms. Glauber received her B.F.A. from SUNY, Purchase, in 1984 and her M.F.A. from the California Institute of the Arts in 1990. gram at New York University and was appointed visiting associate professor of sculpture at Yale in 2004.

Michael Rock, Graphic Designer. Mr. Rock received a B.A. in humanities from Union College in 1981 and an M.F.A. in graphic design from the Rhode Island School of Design in 1983. From 1984 to 1991 he served on the graphic design faculty at the Rhode Island School of Design. He is currently a partner in two endeavors: the graphic design studio 2x4 and the interdisciplinary studio AMO. His articles and essays on design and visual culture appear in magazines and journals internationally. In 1999 he received the Rome Prize in design from the American Academy in Rome. Mr. Rock was appointed to the graphic design faculty in 1991 and currently holds the rank of associate professor (adjunct).

Michael Roemer, Filmmaker. Mr. Roemer, born in Germany, received his B.A. in 1949 from Harvard University, where he wrote and directed the first feature film produced at an American college. He has since worked on films with Robert Young, and he produced, directed, and wrote a series of twelve films for the Ford Foundation. With a Guggenheim Fellowship, he wrote Stone My Heart. His own film, Nothing but a Man, was shown at the London and New York film festivals and was a double prize winner at the Venice Film Festival. Other films include Pilgrim Farewell and Dying, the latter having been nominated by the Television Critics Circle as the best documentary film of 1976. His film Haunted premiered at the Berlin Film Festival in 1984. His 1970 film The Plot Against Harry was shown at the 1989 New York, Cannes, and Toronto film festivals and opened in theaters in 1990. He has published a book on plot, Telling Stories, and two volumes of his screenplays, Film Stories. Mr. Roemer has taught film theory and practice at the Yale School of Drama and is currently professor (adjunct) of American studies and of film at the Yale School of Art.

Ben Rubin, Visual Artist and Sound Designer. Mr. Rubin received a B.A. from Brown University in 1987 and an M.S. in visual studies from the MIT Media Lab in 1989. He is the director of EAR Studio, a media design firm in New York City that he founded in 1993. Mr. Rubin’s artwork has been exhibited at the Whitney Museum of American Art, the List Visual Arts Center, and the Nickle Art Museum, among others. In 2003 he received commissions for public artworks in San Jose and Minneapolis. He has been a frequent collaborator with artists and performers including Laurie Anderson, Diller+Scofidio, Ann Hamilton, Arto Lindsay, Steve Reich, and Beryl Korot. He has been an invited speaker at the Wexner Center, Princeton University, the Center for Advanced Visual Studies at MIT, the University of Michigan School of Art and Design, the University of Virginia School of Architecture, the Gessneralle Theater, Zurich, the Bard M.F.A. program, the 2001 AIGA Voice conference, and the 1998 International Conference on Acoustic Display. Mr. Rubin has been awarded artistic residencies at Bell Laboratories, the Banff Centre for the Arts, and the STEIM foundation in Holland, and he has been nominated for the Chrysler Design Award (2000), the Wired Rave Award in the Artist/Performer category.
(2003), and a New Media Fellowship from the Rockefeller Foundation (2003). In 2003 his Listening Post (with statistician Mark Hansen) won a Webbie Award for Net Art, and his Open Outcry won a Third Coast Audio Festival award for outstanding radio documentary. Mr. Rubin was appointed critic in graphic design in 2004.

Joe Scanlan, Artist. Mr. Scanlan earned a B.F.A. in sculpture from the Columbus College of Art and Design in 1984. He moved to Chicago in 1985, where he worked for seven years as assistant director of The Renaissance Society at the University of Chicago. Mr. Scanlan is represented by D’Amelio Terras, New York, and Galerie Micheline Szwajcer, Antwerp. He has exhibited throughout the United States and Europe, including one-person exhibitions at the Museum Haus Lange, Krefeld, Germany, the Museum of Contemporary Art, Chicago, and Los Angeles Contemporary Exhibitions, Los Angeles, as well as contributing to Documenta IX and the 12th Biennale of Sydney. Mr. Scanlan also publishes frequently, writing articles on art and design for such magazines as Art issues, Frieze, and Parkett. He was appointed assistant professor of sculpture in 2001.

Collier Schorr, Photographer. Ms. Schorr received a B.F.A. from the School of Visual Arts in 1985. She has exhibited widely in the United States and Europe and is represented by 303 Gallery in New York and Modern Art in London. Ms. Schorr’s work is represented in many public collections including the Museum of Modern Art, the Whitney Museum of American Art, the Jewish Museum, and the Walker Art Center. Her commercial photography is represented by Art+Commerce. Currently, she is the Editor-at-Large for the British art magazine Frieze, and she has been a contributor to Artforum and Parkett. Her essays have also appeared in catalogues for the Guggenheim Museum and the Boston ICA. She has taught at Columbia University, the School of Visual Arts, and Sarah Lawrence College. Ms. Schorr was appointed critic in photography at Yale in 2003.

Douglas G. A. Scott, Graphic Designer. Mr. Scott received a B.Arch. from the University of Nebraska in 1971 and an M.F.A. in graphic design from Yale in 1974. He is a design director at the WGBH public broadcasting station in Boston, a freelance book and exhibition designer, and a collage artist. Mr. Scott is on the faculty of the Rhode Island School of Design, has taught at Harvard University, Maine College of Art, and the Boston Architectural Center, and has been a visiting instructor/critic at a number of schools. He was curator of the 1987 Boston exhibition The Roots of Modern American Graphic Design and a curator of the history of American typography section of the exhibition Graphic Design in America, organized by the Walker Art Center in Minneapolis in 1989. Since 1978 he has given over one hundred and forty lectures on the history of design and typography at various schools, museums, and symposia. Mr. Scott was appointed visiting lecturer in graphic design in 1984 and is currently senior critic in graphic design.

Susan Sellers, Graphic Designer. Ms. Sellers received a B.F.A. in graphic design from the Rhode Island School of Design in 1989. She went on to earn an M.A. in American Studies from Yale, where her work explored mid-nineteenth-century labor practices in craft industries of printing and typesetting and the emergence of professionalized design practices. She has taught and lectured widely, and her articles have appeared in a number of journals including Eye, Design Issues, and Visible Language. She has held positions in several studios including Total Design and UNA in Amsterdam. Ms. Sellers is a founding partner at the design studio 2x4 in New York City. She was appointed to the faculty in 1997 and is currently critic in graphic design.

Elizabeth Sledge, Graphic Designer. Ms. Sledge received an M.A. from the University of North Carolina in 1969 and a C.A.S. from Wesleyan University in 1995. Since 1979 she has served as a tutor-in-writing for undergraduates in Yale College, and she is a member of the Yale English department. She was appointed to the design faculty in 1985 to assist second-year graphic design students with thesis development and writing.

Todd St. John, Graphic Designer. Mr. St. John received his B.F.A. in graphic design from the University of Arizona in 1993. His studio, HunterGatherer, makes everything from furniture to clothing to animation. Along with frequent collaborator Gary Benzel, he is the co-founder and co-designer of the long-running independent clothing label Green Lady, launched in 1995. He has worked as a graphic designer, product designer, animator, illustrator, and director. He was an art director at MTV for two years before leaving to start his own studio in 2000. In recent years, Mr. St. John and Mr. Benzel have participated in shows at a number of galleries, including Houston in Seattle, alife/arkitip, RedFive in San Francisco, 222gallery in Philadelphia, and Subliminal Projects in Los Angeles. They were recently included in the Cooper-Hewitt's 2003 National Design Triennial. Mr. St. John was appointed critic in graphic design at Yale in 2001.

Jessica Stockholder, Artist. Ms. Stockholder received her B.F.A. from the University of Victoria in Canada in 1982 and her M.F.A. from Yale in 1985. She has exhibited widely in the United States and Europe, including the Dia Center for the Arts, Gorney Bravin + Lee Gallery, the Centre Pompidou in Paris, the Open Air Museum in Middelheim, Belgium, and the Power Plant in Toronto, Canada. Her work is represented in the Albright-Knox Art Gallery, the Art Institute of Chicago, the Corcoran Gallery of Art, the Whitney Museum of American Art, and the Stedelijk Museum in Amsterdam. She has received numerous grants including a Guggenheim fellowship. Ms. Stockholder was appointed to the Yale faculty in 1999 and is currently professor and director of graduate studies in sculpture.

Scott Stowell, Graphic Designer. Mr. Stowell received a B.F.A. in graphic design from the Rhode Island School of Design in 1990. He is the proprietor of Open, a New York design studio that develops identity systems, print design, motion graphics, and Web design for clients such as the American Museum of the Moving Image, Art:21, EarthAction, Fallon McElligott, MTV, The Nation magazine, Nickelodeon and Nick at Nite, Smithsonian Folkways Recordings, Trio, and Wieden + Kennedy. Previously he was a senior designer at M&Co and art director of Benetton’s Colors magazine in Rome. His work has been recognized by the American Institute of Graphic Arts (AIGA), the Art Directors Club of New York, the Association for Independent Music, Critique, Communication Arts, I.D., Print, the Society of Publication Designers, STEP Inside Design, the Tokyo Typedirectors Club, and the Utne Reader Alternative Press Awards. He has also taught at New York University and Purchase College and recently served as vice president of the New York chapter of the AIGA. Mr. Stowell was appointed to the Yale faculty in 2000 and is currently critic in graphic design.

Robert Taplin, Sculptor. Mr. Taplin is a self-taught sculptor working in New Haven, Connecticut. He received a B.A. in medieval studies from Pomona College in 1973. He has exhibited throughout the eastern United States, most recently at the Palm Beach ICA in Lake Worth, Florida, the Zilka Gallery at Wesleyan University, and Smack Mellon in Brooklyn. He has executed public commissions for the state of Connecticut and the New York MTA and received grants from the Connecticut Commission on the Arts, the National Endowment for the Arts, and most recently the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation. He has also written extensively on sculpture, most prominently for Art in America, publishing a number of articles and dozens of individual reviews. Mr. Taplin was appointed critic in sculpture in 2004.

Henk van Assen, Graphic Designer. Mr. van Assen graduated from the Royal Academy of Fine Arts (Department of Graphic Design and Typography) in The Hague, The Netherlands, in 1989. After working several years as a graphic designer in Amsterdam, he came to the United States where he received his M.F.A. in 1993 from Yale. Mr. van Assen has since worked on and participated in many projects, generally as a creative director, ranging from book design to visual identities to signage systems. Clients include Harper-Collins, Abrams, Hyperion, New York University, the Dutch Institute for Industrial Design, the Blanton Museum of Art, and the Performing Arts Center at the University of Texas at Austin. He has taught in the Design Division of the College of Fine Arts at the University of Texas, at the School of Visual Arts in New York, and at the University of the Arts in Philadelphia. He was awarded the 1999 and 2000 AIGA 50 Best Books Award, the 1999 Mitchel A. Wilder Award, and the 1998 Case Council for Advancement and Support of Education Award. Currently, he works as a design consultant in New York City. He was appointed lecturer in graphic design in 1999 and is currently director of undergraduate studies in art.

The University is committed to basing judgments concerning the admission, education, and employment of individuals upon their qualifications and abilities and affirmatively seeks to attract to its faculty, staff, and student body qualified persons of diverse backgrounds. In accordance with this policy and as delineated by federal and Connecticut law, Yale does not discriminate in admissions, educational programs, or employment against any individual on account of that individual's sex, race, color, religion, age, disability, status as a special disabled veteran, veteran of the Vietnam era, or other covered veteran, or national or ethnic origin; nor does Yale discriminate on the basis of sexual orientation.

University policy is committed to affirmative action under law in employment of women, minority group members, individuals with disabilities, special disabled veterans, veterans of the Vietnam era, and other covered veterans.

Inquiries concerning these policies may be referred to Valerie O. Hayes, Director of the Office for Equal Opportunity Programs, 104 W. L. Harkness Hall, 203.432.0849.

In accordance with both federal and state law, the University maintains information concerning current security policies and procedures and prepares an annual crime report concerning crimes committed within the geographical limits of the University. Upon request to the Office of the Secretary of the University, PO Box 208230, New Haven CT 06520-8230, 203.432.2310, the University will provide such information to any applicant for admission.

In accordance with federal law, the University prepares an annual report on participation rates, financial support, and other information regarding men's and women's intercollegiate athletic programs. Upon request to the Director of Athletics, PO Box 208216, New Haven CT 06520-8216, 203.432.1414, the University will provide its annual report to any student or prospective student.

For all other matters related to admission to the School of Art, please telephone the Admissions Office, 203.432.2600.
